No Special Session Seen By Congress

Can Complete Work, Leaders Tell President

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairmen of the House and Senate appropriations committees say Congress can complete work on money bills this year without a post-Christmas special session threatened by President Nixon.

The President, meeting Thursday with Republican congressional leaders, warned he might call a special session for Dec. 26 unless all appropriations bills were acted on.

Congressional leaders had been planning to adjourn the current session before Christmas.

Although only five of the year's 13 regular money bills have cleared Congress, Rep. George H. Mahon, D-Tex., chairman of the House committee, said "I see no serious problem. It's our responsibility to do it and we will."

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the Senate committee, said later during debate on a continuing resolution to keep federal agencies in operation until Congress adjourns, "I think we will get the bills through before the end of the session."

But the usually optimistic Mike Mansfield, Senate Democratic leader, told a reporter "it's going to be nip and tuck."

The keys, he said, are the $70 billion defense appropriations bill, scheduled for House action early next week, and the bill covering the departments of labor, and health, education and welfare, scheduled to be marked up by the Senate committee next Tuesday or Wednesday.

Both contain controversial provisions, including funds for the Safeguard ABM system in the defense bill and desegregation riders in the Labor-HEW measure.

"If we can get reasonable time limitations, they could be done," Mansfield said. "If we can't, it's problematical."

But the Montana Democrat, who suggested earlier this week the possibility of sessions between Christmas and New Year's Day, said he plans to meet early, stay late and have Saturday sessions "to complete the people's business."

Appropriations For Foreign Aid May Hit New Low

WASHINGTON (AP) — Appropriations for the embattled foreign aid program may tumble to a new low point this year, possibly $1 billion less than the spending ceiling sought by President Nixon.

A House appropriations subcommittee is reported to have whacked the aid measure down to the neighborhood of $1.6 billion, including deep slashes in major economic aid components.

President Nixon had sought a $2.6 billion spending ceiling for the over-all program in the year that began last July. The House trimmed that to $2.19 billion and the administration went to the Senate for help in increasing the money authorization.

One of the major fights looms in the military section of the bill. The subcommittee, headed by Rep. Otto E. Passman, D-La., was said to have added $54.5 million to finance a squadron of fighter planes for Nationalist China.

The House, in the separate authorization bill, approved authority for the planes but the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, still working on its version of that measure, promptly knocked it out.

The money figures reportedly set by Passman's subcommittee are scheduled for examination by the parent unit next Monday, and possibly the House on Tuesday. He is one of the leading backers of the Nationalist China planes.

A move is expected to be made in the full committee to restore $50 million for South Korea—a figure said to have been okayed by the subcommittee.

These deep cuts were reportedly chopped in the economic aid package by the subcommittee: —Development loans, for which Nixon asked a $675.5 million and the House cut back to $425.5 million, down to $265 million in actual money. These loans, supposed to be repaid with interest at 2 per cent for a grace period and 3 per cent thereafter must be used to buy U.S. goods and services.

Alliance for Progress loans for Latin America, reduced to $200 million from an original $437.5 million authorization request cut back to $337.5 million by the House.

—Supporting assistance, used primarily to increase the capability of countries to defend against Communist expansion, set at $300 million compared with a $514.6 million authorization request that was pared $10 million by the House.

Schools To Close Due To Fund Lack

WARREN, Ohio (AP) — City schools at Newton Falls closed today and will not reopen until Jan. 5 because of a lack of funds.

Affected are 2,000 pupils and 133 teachers and non-certified employees.

While the communiques speak of battles involving companies and battalions—the clash of professional soldiers doing their grim job—each GI carries with him the certain knowledge that in any village there may be men, women, and even children who are also the enemy, waiting for the time and place to attack him.

Brutality, and indifference to human life, are commonplace in Vietnam. Even the disfigurement of dead GIs is common.

Charge Man With Slaying

2nd Man Injured During Shootout

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Police say a man who fired shots from a third-floor window killed one man and wounded another before exchanging fire with policemen for nearly three hours. He finally was flushed from a rooming house.

The gunman fired sporadically into the street even though police hurled barrage after barrage of tear gas into the building. The man hurled several tear gas canisters back.

Police were summoned to the building, in the city's Hill District, about 10 p.m. Thursday, when firing into the street was reported. Then the battle in heavy snow and subfreezing temperatures began.

At one point, police opened up on the building for 30 seconds with machine guns, rifles, pistols and tear gas. The man withstood the fusillade, however, and continued firing.

In a followup barrage of tear gas, the man's room caught fire. He fled and police made their capture. Police said a hot tear gas canister caused the fire.

Police identified the man as Ohannes J. Dersarkissian, about 46. They said he had lived in the building one month.

Dersarkissian was charged with murder, assault with intent to kill and violation of the firearms law.

The dead man, tentatively identified as Nathaniel Brown, was lying at the third-story landing when police entered the building. His body was removed by police 45 minutes before Dersarkissian was captured.

The wounded man, William Miller, 38, was found lying on a sidewalk outside the building.

Use Plane To Uncover Poachers

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—A state Division of Forestry plane is being used to spot game poachers roaming the southeastern Ohio hills at night and it has been responsible for 39 arrests since Monday.

Everett Ridge, supervisor of Wildlife District four, said pilot Lee Tates and a game warden fly over the 19-county area at night with their eyes peeled for signs of flashlights.

When they notice a flickering light off the beaten path, they radio one of two enforcement cars that remain nearby. Officers in the cars move in for the arrest.

The last session of the Legislature made it illegal to spotlight game at night while in possession of firearms.

Hunters sometimes illegally use flashlights to temporarily blind deer and other animals before shooting them.

Ridge said the plane spotter idea has worked so well he plans to continue it after the deer season ends Saturday.

The plane is used ordinarily only during the day for fire patrol duty in the Southeastern Ohio region.

Captain Claims No Massacre Ordered In My Lai Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Army board lined up testimony today from 1st Lt. William L. Calley Jr., charged with mass murdering Vietnamese civilians.

Calley's company commander, Capt. Ernest Medina, told the panel Thursday he did not order any massacre and "I did not see any massacre in My Lai."

Calley, who has not spoken publicly about the incident, was called to testify before a special army panel which is attempting to find out why a field investigation shortly after the alleged massacre in March 1968 came up with a finding that no further action was needed.

The lieutenant is charged with the premeditated murder of at least 109 civilians at the village.

Medina, whose Company C included Calley's platoon, was excused by the Peers board Thursday night after hours of questioning under oath. He has not been charged in the case.

During a break in his testimony, Medina appeared at a news conference in the Pentagon and denied flatly allegations by some of his former soldiers that he himself had killed a child at the My Lai 4 hamlet and ordered inhabitants of the settlement killed.

With Boston criminal Lawyer F. Lee Bailey at his elbow, the 33-year-old captain answered reporters' questions for the first time since the case burst into a world-wide sensation.

Bailey said Medina is not subject to an order issued by the trial judge in Calley's impending court martial and that his client was speaking out because of accusations against him carried in the news media.

The captain, veteran of more than two years service in Vietnam, said:

"He shot a woman, acting instinctively when he thought she was about to attack him with a weapon."

"He had been told by intelligence sources 'that there would be no women or children or innocent civilians in the village . . . after 0700 hours,' a half hour before his company launched a helicopter borne attack."

"The mission of his company and other elements of a task force 'was to do combat' with the 48th Viet Cong battalion which he said was reported by intelligence to be in the village."

OK Plans For New State Office

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Authorization by the Legislative Office Building Committee on Thursday to purchase three properties in downtown Columbus signaled a major transformation of Capital Square.

Plans call for erection of a 14 to 24-story state office building directly north of and linked to the statehouse by a tunnel. The statehouse annex, currently housing offices which will be situated in the new building, will be razed and the site will be landscaped.

Parking garages will be built under the new office building and under the annex site.

All of this got a start toward reality Thursday when the legislative committee approved purchase of tracts of land at 30, 44 and 50 E. Broad St. for $2,662,000.

Total cost of the project, including renovation of the Statehouse and grounds, is expected to cost around $20 million.

Rep. Vernal Riffe Jr. said the Ohio Building Authority will go before the Ohio Controlling Board later this month to borrow the money to purchase the land until it can sell bonds to repay the amount.

The New Boston Democrat noted that the state can save $40,000 in additional taxes by purchasing the tracts prior to Jan. 1.

The properties are owned by the United Redevelopment Corp. Committee Chairman Robert Stockdale, R-31, Kent, said the firm has agreed to sell the land at costs plus interest and taxes.

Allied Side Only Plans For 2 Days

SAIGON (AP) — The Viet Cong announced today that its forces would observe Christmas and New Year's truces of three days each, two days longer than those proclaimed Thursday by the Saigon government.

The Viet Cong radio said the Christmas truce would start at 1 a.m. Dec. 21, 12 noon Dec. 23 EST, and end at 1 a.m. Dec. 27. It said the New Year's truce would run from 1 a.m. Dec. 30 to 1 a.m. Jan. 2.

President Nguyen Van Thieu proclaimed 24-hour cease-fires to start at 6 p.m. Christmas Eve and 6 p.m. New Year's Eve. The U.S. Command said American forces would join in the truce proclaimed by Thieu.

The U.S. Command said today it had received reports for the first time in the war that North Vietnamese army officers executed at least a dozen of their soldiers who tried to desert.

In a special memorandum to newsmen, the command said "armed guards to prevent desertions were reported accompanying North Vietnamese units infiltrating into the South. Desertion has been a problem in the South Vietnamese army for years."

The U.S. Command said its reports came from three North Vietnamese defectors who escaped last August and September.

Two of them said they were privates, both born in Ha Tay Province and both with the North Vietnamese army's 3rd Division.

One, 17 years old, arrived in South Vietnam last March. He reported that "a number of men from his battalion deserted in North Vietnam while moving south and that 10 soldiers who attempted to desert were shot by the unit's officers," the U.S. statement said.

The other private, 32, said he arrived in the South last April and that his unit was under guard on the way down because 35 men had deserted.

The third defector, a 16-year-old guerrilla, told interrogators that he saw the bodies of two soldiers who had deserted from their unit near Hue in September and were captured by a North Vietnamese sapper battalion.

"The sapper battalion commander ordered them shot when they refused to return to their unit," the U.S. memorandum said.

The guerrilla "further stated that the North Vietnamese army cadre have increased their supervisory role on combat desertions while on operations in base areas and on food-gathering missions."

Meanwhile, more fighting was reported along the Cambodian border west of Saigon.

Use Battleship As Fallout Shelter

BREMERTON, Wash. (AP) — The battleship Missouri, on which the Japanese surrender documents were signed, has been designated a public nuclear blast fallout shelter.

The Missouri, which can accommodate 2,200 persons, has been stocked with medical and sanitary supplies, food, water and radiological monitoring instruments. The Navy cooperated with state Civil Defense officials in the project.

When the Missouri was mothballed here, former President Harry Truman complained about locating her "in a closet." Contacted about her latest duty, he wrote expressing "hope that the USS Missouri may never be called upon to be so used."

Questions Behind Alleged Massacre At My Lai Probed

EDITOR'S NOTE—Allegations that American GIs massacred South Vietnamese civilians during a raid on a village complex last year have stunned the United States. How could it happen? is the most frequently asked question. In the following analysis, John T. Wheeler, who reported the war in Vietnam for the Associated Press for several years, gives an insight into the conditions of a strange war in which anything can happen.

By JOHN T. WHEELER
Associated Press Writer
To try to understand the alleged massacre by American GIs of civilians at My Lai it is necessary also to understand the atmosphere of a war which has led many U.S. fighting men to feel they are as much at war against Vietnam as for it.

While the communiques speak of battles involving companies and battalions—the clash of professional soldiers doing their grim job—each GI carries with him the certain knowledge that in any village there may be men, women, and even children who are also the enemy, waiting for the time and place to attack him.

Brutality, and indifference to human life, are commonplace in Vietnam. Even the disfigurement of dead GIs is common.

In Vietnam the killing of civilians was a practice established by the Viet Cong as a major part of the war long before the first U.S. ground troops were committed in March 1965.

By official count, more than 20,000 civilians had been murdered by that time in enemy executions aimed at so thoroughly terrorizing the countryside that none would resist. The total now is more than 40,000 including more than 3,000 killed by the enemy in Hue when they held part of that city for 2½ weeks. At Hue, the victims were predominantly civilians of all ages. Many were killed simply by tying their hands behind their backs, shoving them into a trench and burying them alive.

It was into this conflict that the American troops were plunged. They had been told to kill the Viet Cong who were bad and who the peasant who only aided the enemy because he had no choice. Given a chance, the official line went, Vietnam wanted to be free and democratic just like America.

But the GIs found a war of shattered families, and divided allegiances to any regime, either Viet Cong or Saigon.

There is no front in Vietnam, no rear, no safety. To the GI of a rifle company everyone outside the perimeter can be suspected of plotting to kill him.

In Vietnam the word civilian does not describe noncombatants. It describes dress more certainly than occupation.

In Vietnam the GI has plenty of reason for his distrust and fear:

Item: U.S. Marines found begging children to whom they had been giving food were stealing grenades that were tossed back at the Leathernecks during the night.

Item: One Green Beret commander found his desk booby-trapped by one of the Vietnamese working for him. The Green Berets began using lie detectors because their mercenary forces in some camps were running as high as 30 per cent Viet Cong.

Item: A U.S. truck was blown up, killing all aboard, on highway 13, called "bloody Route 13" because of the frequency of bombings. GIs from another truck quickly traced out the electrical wires to the detonator and found a young girl still holding the handle. They shot her.

The Pentagon says that today's soldiers are the most sophisticated in history. But more than being able to operate intricate electronic equipment and the like, the GIs in Vietnam also could see at first hand the cor-

Captain Claims No Massacre Ordered In My Lai Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Army board lined up testimony today from 1st Lt. William L. Calley Jr., charged with mass murdering Vietnamese civilians.

Calley's company commander, Capt. Ernest Medina, told the panel Thursday he did not order any massacre and "I did not see any massacre in My Lai."

NATO Ministers Challenge Soviets To Talk Peace

BRUSSELS (AP) — Fourteen foreign ministers of the North Atlantic Alliance agreed today to challenge the Soviet bloc to discuss mutual troop reductions as a demonstration that the Communists are really serious in proposing a European security conference.

France was reported holding aloof because it is not part of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's unified military command. The French government believes, therefore, that it can have no part in a program of NATO-Warsaw Pact troop reductions.

The decision to renew the 18-month-old offer to talk troop reductions emerged at the windup session of the NATO Council of Foreign Ministers. The ministers were completing a joint declaration on East-West relations and on the Soviet bloc call for a Pan-European security conference in the next six months.

Foreign Minister Maurice Schumann of France also objected to a West German proposal that the alliance reject the Soviet bloc demand at its Moscow summit meeting Thursday for international recognition of the East German regime. Schumann said such a rejection would imply acceptance of the principle of negotiations between two blocs, and France opposes the division of Europe into blocs.

NATO first offered to negotiate mutual reductions in armed strength in June 1968, before the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia. Moscow ignored the offer.

Instead, the Soviets and their allies proposed a big European security conference. After some hesitation, they acknowledged that the United States and Canada could also take part. Criticized for not proposing anything specific for the conference to talk about, the Communists came up with two suggestions: renunciations of the use of force and more cooperation in trade and science.

At the NATO meeting Thursday, U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers contended that the sole purpose of the Soviet proposal was to perpetuate Moscow's rule in Eastern Europe.

Walter Scheel, West Germany's new foreign minister, expressed doubt that Germany could take part in a security conference because the country is still divided. He proposed that the United States, Britain, France and the Soviet Union get together with the two German governments in the meantime and make some temporary settlements.

Loss Estimated At $20,000 In House Fire

An estimated $20,000 damage was reported to the two-family residence at 609 S. Court St., following the fire Thursday afternoon.

Firemen were called to the scene at 12:32 p.m. and remained for nearly four hours. The blaze is believed to have begun in the kitchen areas on both floors in the rear of the structure, spreading to the roof and attic.

The entire house was heavily damaged, the rear portion severely gutted and roof totally destroyed.

Residents of the building, Mr. and Mrs. George Reeser and Mr. and Mrs. David Caudill and daughter, were not at home at the time of the fire. Contents of the Reeser apartment were a total loss. Some furniture was saved from the Caudill's possessions, though smoke and water damage was heavy.

Fire Chief Bernard Wolfe reported that smoke or steam had been seen coming from the eaves at the back of the house an hour before the department was notified. An immediate report could have prevented so great a loss to the building he said.

Rhodes Rejects Debate Format

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes today rejected the proposed debate format suggested for his Republican primary Senate campaign against Rep. Robert Taft Jr.

Rhodes said he wants a face to face debate with his opponent and not the type of confrontation suggested by Al Shottelkotte of Cincinnati's general news manager of Scripps-Howard broadcasting.

Rhodes, in a letter, told Shottelkotte he has a record as governor and Taft has a record as congressman "and the people of Ohio deserve to know our full position on each of the great issues that effect the people."

Taft had accepted the format of the debate as proposed by Shottelkotte.

Plans call for erection of a 14 to 24-story state office building directly north of and linked to the statehouse by a tunnel. The statehouse annex, currently housing offices which will be situated in the new building, will be razed and the site will be landscaped.

Parking garages will be built under the new office building and under the annex site.

All of this got a start toward reality Thursday when the legislative committee approved purchase of tracts of land at 30, 44 and 50 E. Broad St. for $2,662,000.

Total cost of the project, including renovation of the Statehouse and grounds, is expected to cost around $20 million.

Rep. Vernal Riffe Jr. said the Ohio Building Authority will go before the Ohio Controlling Board later this month to borrow the money to purchase the land until it can sell bonds to repay the amount.

The New Boston Democrat noted that the state can save $40,000 in additional taxes by purchasing the tracts prior to Jan. 1.

The properties are owned by the United Redevelopment Corp., Committee Chairman Robert Stockdale, R-31, Kent, said the firm has agreed to sell the land at costs plus interest and taxes.

Allied Side Only Plans For 2 Days

SAIGON (AP) — The Viet Cong announced today that its forces would observe Christmas and New Year's truces of three days each, two days longer than those proclaimed Thursday by the Saigon government.

The Viet Cong radio said the Christmas truce would start at 1 a.m. Dec. 24, 12 noon Dec. 23 EST, and end at 1 a.m. Dec. 27. It said the New Year's truce would run from 1 a.m. Dec. 30 to 1 a.m. Jan. 2.

President Nguyen Van Thieu proclaimed 24-hour cease-fires to start at 6 p.m. Christmas Eve and 6 p.m. New Year's Eve. The U.S. Command said American forces would join in the truce proclaimed by Thieu.

The U.S. Command said today it had received reports for the first time in the war that North Vietnamese army officers executed at least a dozen of their soldiers who tried to desert.

In a special memorandum to newsmen, the command said armed guards to prevent desertions were reported accompanying North Vietnamese units infiltrating into the South. Desertion has been a problem in the South Vietnamese army for years.

The U.S. Command said its reports came from three North Vietnamese defectors who escaped last August and September.

Two of them said they were privates, both born in Ha Tay Province and both with the North Vietnamese army's 3rd Division.

One, 17 years old, arrived in South Vietnam last March. He reported that "a number of men from his battalion deserted in North Vietnam while moving south and that 10 soldiers who attempted to desert were shot by the unit's officers," the U.S. statement said.

The other private, 32, said he arrived in the South last April and that his unit was under guard on the way down because 35 men had deserted.

The third defector, a 16-year-old guerrilla, told interrogators that he saw the bodies of two soldiers who had deserted from their unit near Hue in September and were captured by a North Vietnamese sapper battalion.

"The sapper battalion commander ordered them shot when they refused to return to their unit," the U.S. memorandum said.

The guerrilla "further stated that the North Vietnamese army cadre have increased their supervision to combat desertions while on operations in base areas and on food-gathering missions."

Meanwhile, more fighting was reported along the Cambodian border west of Saigon.

Use Battleship As Fallout Shelter

BREMERTON, Wash. (AP) — The battleship Missouri, on which the Japanese surrender documents were signed, has been designated a public nuclear fallout shelter.

The Missouri, which can accommodate 2,200 persons, has been stocked with medical and sanitary supplies, food, water and radiological monitoring instruments. The Navy cooperated with state Civil Defense officials in the project.

When the Missouri was mothballed here, former President Harry Truman complained about locating her "in a closet." He wrote expressing "hope that the USS Missouri may never be called upon to be so used."

Questions Behind Alleged Massacre At My Lai Probed

EDITOR'S NOTE—Allegations that American GIs massacred South Vietnamese civilians during a raid on a village complex last year have stunned the United States. How could it happen? is the most frequently asked question. In the following analysis, John T. Wheeler, who reported the war in Vietnam for the Associated Press for several years, gives an insight into the conditions of a strange war in which anything can happen.

necessary also to understand the atmosphere of a war which has led many U.S. fighting men to feel they are as much at war against Vietnam as for it.

While the communiques speak of battles involving companies and battalions—the clash of professional soldiers doing their grim job—each GI carries with him the certain knowledge that in any village there may be men, women, and even children who are also the enemy, waiting for the time and place to attack him.

Brutality, and indifference to human life, are commonplace in Vietnam. Even the disfigurement of dead GIs is common.

In Vietnam the killing of civilians was a practice established by the Viet Cong as a major part of the war long before the first U.S. ground troops were committed in March 1965.

By official count, more than 20,000 civilians had been murdered by that time in enemy executions aimed at so thoroughly terrorizing the countryside that none would resist. The total now is more than 40,000 including more than 3,000 killed by the enemy in Hue when they held part of that city for 2½ weeks. At Hue, the victims were predominantly civilians of all ages. Many were killed simply by tying their hands behind their backs, shoving them into a trench and burying them alive.

It was into this conflict that the American troops were plunged. They had been told to kill the Viet Cong who were bad and woe the peasant who only aided the enemy because he had no choice. Given a chance, the official line went, Vietnam wanted to be free and democratic just like America.

But the GIs found a war of shattered families, and divided allegiances to any regime, either Viet Cong or Saigon.

There is no front in Vietnam, no rear, no safety. To the GI of a rifle company everyone outside the perimeter can be suspected of plotting to kill him.

In Vietnam the word civilian does not describe noncombatants. It describes dress more certainly than occupation.

In Vietnam the GI has plenty of reason for his distrust and fear:

Item: U.S. Marines found begging children to whom they had been giving food were stealing grenades that were tossed back at the Leathernecks during the night.

Item: One Green Beret commander found his desk booby-trapped by one of the Vietnamese working for him. The Green Berets began using lie detectors because their mercenary forces in some camps were running as high as 30 per cent Viet Cong.

Item: A U.S. truck was blown up, killing all aboard, on highway 13, called "bloody Route 13" because of the frequency of bombings. GIs from another truck quickly traced out the electrical wires to the detonator and found a young girl still holding the handle. They said her.

The Pentagon says that today's soldiers are the most sophisticated in history. But more than being able to operate intricate electronic equipment and the like, the GIs in Vietnam also could see at first hand the cor-

Today In Washington

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — In a surprise move, a Senate appropriations subcommittee has voted to trim about $15 million from the supersonic transport (SST) project.

The action by the Transportation subcommittee—taken at a closed session—is subject to possible reversal, however, when the full appropriations committee takes up the transportation measure.

Also, Senate-House conferees could restore the cutback when they meet later to resolve differences between the House and Senate version of the legislation.

The vote reduced the $96 million voted by the House for the SST to about $80 million. However, Senate sources said they doubted the action would slow development of the huge passenger airplane.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Commission on Civil Rights has urged senators to strip from an education spending bill a clause that would, in effect, legalize the freedom-of-choice method of desegregation.

Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, commission chairman, told a Senate Appropriations subcommittee that freedom-of-choice plans "are designed to continue the very segregation which has been held unconstitutional."

He testified against an amendment tacked on in the House by Rep. Jamie L. Whitten, D-Miss. Among other things, it would prohibit the federal government from forcing school districts to abandon freedom-of-choice plans before federal school funds are released.

Stock List On Upside

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices remained higher at noon today, but some of the steam had leaked out of the early extension of Thursday's rally.

Trading slowed from the previous moderately active pace. Rising stocks outnumbered declines by 695 to 454, about the same margin as earlier.

The Dow Jones Industrial average at noon was up 0.79 at 797.32. Earlier it had been up more than 3 points.

There had been no news developments to sustain the rally, brokers said, and in midmorning developments a First National City Bank Officer predicted the nation would enter a recession next year.

At noon today the AP 60-stock average was up .7 at 274.5, with industrials up 1.1, rails up .5, and utilities up .1.

Of the 20 most active Big Board Stocks, 11 were higher, 8 declined, and 1 was unchanged.

On the American Exchange, Milgo Electronics which had opened higher after a delay caused by an order influx, was at 60 1/4 unchanged.

Of the 20 most-active Amex stocks, 12 declined 7 advanced and 1 was unchanged.

Today in Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — In a surprise move, a Senate appropriations subcommittee has voted to trim about $15 million from the supersonic transport (SST) project.

The action by the Transportation subcommittee—taken at a closed session—is subject to possible reversal, however, when the full appropriations committee takes up the transportation measure.

Also, Senate-House conferees could restore the cutback when they meet later to resolve differences between the House and Senate version of the legislation.

The vote reduced the $96 million voted by the House for the SST to about $80 million. However, Senate sources said they doubted the action would slow development of the huge passenger airplane.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Commission on Civil Rights has urged senators to strip from an education spending bill a clause that would, in effect, legalize the freedom-of-choice method of desegregation.

Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, commission chairman, told a Senate Appropriations subcommittee that freedom-of-choice plans "are designed to continue the very segregation which has been held unconstitutional."

He testified against an amendment tacked on in the House by Rep. Jamie L. Whitten, D-Miss. Among other things, it would prohibit the federal government from forcing school districts to abandon freedom-of-choice plans before federal school funds are released.

The House Foreign Affairs Committee has adopted a resolution protesting treatment of U.S. servicemen held prisoners in North Vietnam. It calls for compliance with the Geneva convention and endorses efforts to obtain humane treatment and release of U.S. prisoners.

Stock List On Upside

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices remained higher at noon today, but some of the steam had leaked out of the early extension of Thursday's rally.

Trading slowed from the previous moderately active pace. Rising stocks outnumbered declines by 695 to 454, about the same margin as earlier.

The Dow Jones Industrial average at noon was up 0.79 at 797.32. Earlier it had been up more than 3 points.

There had been no news developments to sustain the rally, brokers said, and in midmorning developments a First National City Bank Officer predicted the nation would enter a recession next year.

At noon today the AP 60-stock average was up .7 at 274.5, with industrials up 1.1, rails up .5, and utilities up .1.

Of the 20 most active Big Board Stocks, 11 were higher, 8 declined, and 1 was unchanged. On the American Exchange, Milgo Electronics which had opened higher after a delay caused by an order influx, was at 60% unchanged.

Of the 20 most-active Amex stocks, 12 declined, 7 advanced and 1 was unchanged.

ruption, the indifference of Vietnamese soldiers to winning the war, the contrast between the poverty in the countryside and the comparative wealth of the cities and the way Vietnamese merchants, bar girls and even children selling black market American soft drinks gouged them. Added to this were the deaths and maimings of friends. Cynicism mixed with anger rapidly replaced the early idealism among combat troops. Vietnamese were called "gooks" and "slopes" in a way that sometimes translated as subhuman.

No spark sets off a fire unless it falls into combustible material. The sparks that ignite American GI's are snipers, mines and booby traps. The major cause of casualties in Vietnam are mines and booby traps. Snipers also are a major factor. The three are all the more hated because each is hidden and after the damage is done, there usually is no chance for the American infantrymen to even the score because no enemy can be found.

Often intelligence will pinpoint a village as the source of the mine and booby trap makers and snipers. Repeated sweeps through the hamlet turn up little or nothing except more casualties. And hatred builds up for the villagers who know the hidden traps are but don't tell. Then one day something snaps in one or more men. The frustration and fear drives them across that line of civilized conduct that in combat zones is a hazy mark at best.

There are indications that these things might have been at work on the men who are accused of massacre in My Lai last year.

They certainly were on a group of American Marines I accompanied into a village south of Da Nang in 1965. A half squad, out of a regimental size force, went on a brief rampage killing a group hiding in a civilian air raid shelter.

The battalion was due to rotate home in four weeks. In the previous month, 15 per cent of the battalion had been killed or wounded by snipers and booby traps. None of the Marines had seen a Viet Cong soldier during the time.

The U.S. Command's position has been from the beginning that civilians are not to be harmed. But the case for the sanctity of civilian life is weakened by the knowledge that there are South Vietnamese assassination teams—sometimes led by Americans—operating in the countryside killing enemy officials, as opposed to soldiers, often in their beds at home, Viet Cong style. And GIs who have searched out a village after American bombers have done their work cannot help but be a bit cynical about orders not to molest civilians.

Car-Train Crashes, Others Claim Lives Of 12 In Ohio

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Seven Ohioans died late Thursday and early today in car-train crashes at crossings, four in one accident near Toledo, two in Cleveland and another near Piqua.

At least five other persons were killed in other traffic accidents in the same period.

The dead:

TOLEDO—Frank Snyder, 39, of Toledo; Rita Westfall, 24, of Oregon, Toledo suburb, and her two children, Laura, 5, and Holly, 3, were killed Thursday night when their car was struck from behind and shoved into the side of a freight train.

Authorities said Snyder's car was stopped at a Norfolk & Western Railway crossing when a car driven by Harold G. Hartong, 47, of Cincinnati, struck it from behind, pushing it into the side of a passing train. The Snyder car burst into flames on impact.

Hartong, admitted to a hospital for treatment of injuries, was charged with operating a motor vehicle under the influence of alcohol, first-degree vehicular homicide, leaving the scene of an accident and failure to keep assured clear distance ahead.

CLEVELAND — John Bailey, 33, and Milan Zrim, 22, both of Cleveland, were killed when their automobile was smashed by a Norfolk & Western train at an East Side Cleveland crossing. Police said the pair apparently tried to get across the tracks before the train reached the crossing.

PIQUA—Harold Reinhard, 54, of Piqua, was killed early Friday when his automobile ran into a freight train just north of Piqua.

DAYTON — Kenneth Justice, 16, of near Waynesville, Warren County, died early Friday night when his automobile collided with another car on Ohio 73 in Warren County.

TIFFIN—Mrs. Alice Mae Ludwig, 26, of Tiffin, was killed early Friday when her car went out of control and crashed off a county road just outside Tiffin.

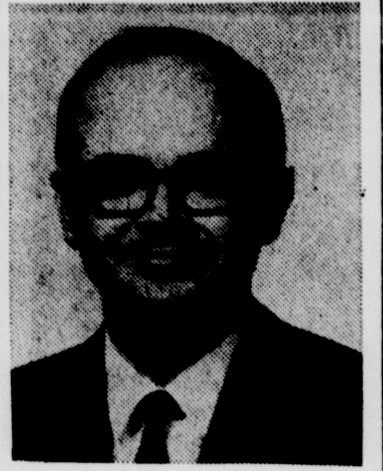

BOWLING GREEN—A year-old boy, Noel Carpenter, was killed Thursday night when a car driven by his mother, Mary Ann Carpenter, 24, of Maumee, crashed into a bridge on U.S. 25 in Wood County.

COLUMBUS — Bonnie Kidwell, 17, was killed Thursday night when a car in which she was riding with a boyfriend went out of control on a curve of a winding drive and struck a tree.

CHARDON — John Newport,

42, of Newbury, Geauga County, was killed Thursday night in Newbury when the truck he was driving went into a ditch.

J. Stallings Transferred To Luxembourg

JAMES STALLINGS

The transfer of James M. Stallings to Luxembourg, has been announced by Circleville's Du Pont plant.

He has been with the local facility since January, 1959, most recently as project engineer in 'Mylar' manufacturing. His assignment transfer is as specialist — planning and design liaison engineer.

A graduate of VMI with a BS in civil engineering, Stallings was first associated with the DuPont organization in 1956 as an engineer at the company's film plant in Richmond, Va.

Following his transfer to Circleville as an engineer in the plant's project section, he later was specialist works engineer, engineering supervisor in research and development laboratory and semi-works supervisor.

In Circleville, he and his wife, Margaret D., and children James D. and Margaret R., resided at 1072 Georgia Rd.

Members of St. Phillips Episcopal Church, he served as vestryman also as coordinator for the church pre-school.

He has served with Community Fund organization as training chairman for the fund drive.

SEASON GREENERY — Chairman of the Jaycee Christmas tree sales, Tom Howell, displays the fine specimens available at three locations in Circleville. The large selection should enable everyone to find a tree to suit their needs.

JC Christmas Tree Sale Starts Today

Local Jaycees begin their annual Christmas tree sales today. Unlike previous years, the trees will be available in several locations about Circleville.

Hand selected Scotch pine, ranging in size from four to eleven feet, will be on sale at 529 Elm Ave., 414 E. Mound St. and at Brehmers Greenhouse. Cuttings and trimmings will be sold at the main lot on Elm Ave., one block west of the Junior High building. The pines will be priced and tagged according to size and shape and displayed upright to protect them. With each sale a sheet of instructions will be given for the care of the tree.

Jaycees is a non-profit community organization and all money from the Christmas sales will be used to finance other projects during the year. Chairman of the tree sales committee is Tom Howell, with co-chairmen Bill Ballou, Pete Cherrington and Steve Cherrington.

Following his transfer to Circleville as an engineer in the plant's project section, he later was specialist works engineer, engineering supervisor in research and development laboratory and semi-works supervisor.

In Circleville, he and his wife, Margaret D., and children James D. and Margaret R., resided at 1072 Georgia Rd.

Members of St. Phillips Episcopal Church, he served as vestryman also as coordinator for the church pre-school.

He has served with Community Fund organization as training chairman for the fund drive.

Two men appeared before Judge Ammer in Common Pleas Court Thursday for violation of probation.

Arthur William Crosby, Ashville, was under the current sentence for having carnal knowledge of a girl under 16. His probation was continued.

Fred Wooten, Circleville, had his probation extended for one year from the original three year sentence for attempted breaking and entering.

Services will be 2 p.m. Saturday at the Leonard Funeral Home, Logan, with Rev. Hugh Robinson officiating. Burial will be in Green Summit Cemetery, Adelphi.

Each vertebra also has an opening through it which houses the medulla spinalis (spinal cord). The spinal cord is enclosed with three membranes; the dura mater, the arachnoid and the pia mater.

An opening between each vertebra (intervertebral foramen) is for the passage of the spinal nerves branching off the spinal cord.

In the cervical spine a vital artery (vertebral artery) which helps to supply the brain with blood, lies very close to the vertebrae.

You can see from the above information that the spine is a complex portion of the human body and should be considered as such.

The chiropractor is specially trained in the techniques of detecting misaligned vertebrae (subluxation) with scientific instrumentation and with the use of spinal x-rays and in the techniques of adjusting these subluxations. He must train for several years in these techniques before actually adjusting a patient. He must pass rigid examinations at the college and state level before entering private practice.

Yes, a spinal adjustment by an untrained person can be as dangerous as a brain operation performed by an untrained person. However, as a surgeon, when the chiropractor has met his requirement, the patient has no reason to fear danger from a spinal adjustment.

Contract Awarded For Construction At Fire House

Bids were opened this week by the city of Circleville for remodeling and enlarging the entrance doors of the Fire Department and for an addition to the city service department garage on E. Ohio St.

The lone bid for the work at the fire department was submitted by J. Boyd Stout Co. of Circleville and was accepted by the city.

It was in the amount of $3,250. Two bids were submitted for the addition to the service department, one by J. Boyd Stout Co. and the other by Phillip Gallechco of Grove City. The contract for the addition has not yet been awarded, Circleville Mayor Richard Gerhardt said today.

The mayor expects work to begin at the fire department before the first of the year.

Pickaway Grange Report

SALT CREEK VALLEY GRANGE

Members and Advisers of Saltcreek Go and Grow 4-H Club were program guests for the Dec. 1 meeting of Saltcreek Valley Grange.

With Lonnie Maxson presiding, a regular club meeting was demonstrated. A piano solo by Martha Dumm and a reading "The Good Earth" by Joyce DeLong were presented. Other members participating were Donnie Maxson, Melanie Maxson the secretary, Jodi DeLong, Eric Maxson, Evelyn Maxson, and Allen Strous.

Mrs. Judson Beougher expressed pleasure in working with the group and recognized fellow advisers Mrs. Clarence Maxson and Mrs. Fred DeLong.

David Owens, 4-H Agent, talked concerning the 4-H program and its many challenges and rewards. He presented the certificates and pins and project premiums. Special Horticulture Award Pins were presented Melanie Maxson, Joyce and Jodi DeLong. These members were three of the four in Pickaway County receiving this award for 1969.

Francis Fraunfelter presided for the business portion of this meeting.

Mrs. Grace Anderson read a greeting-report from Paul Dunkle, Ohio State Grange Deputy, which contained appreciation for interest in and cooperation with the recent letter from Joyce Kern the Ohio State Grange Princess for 1969 expressing appreciation for the corsage and hospitality at the last meeting.

For Mrs. Roy Fraunfelter and Edward Kreisel, resolutions of respect were read by Mrs. Randolph Wolfe.

As chairman of Women's Services, Mrs. DeLong read a communication from Evelyn Miller, director of Voluntary Services for Veterans' Administration, thanking members for gifts sent for the Hospital Gift Shop.

A decision was made to prepare and serve a dinner for Junior Chamber of Commerce Jan. 19 and to bring gifts to the next meeting for Veterans at the Chillicothe Hospital.

Mrs. Raymond Hedges was elected Secretary to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mrs. Roy Fraunfelter.

For Auditing Committee the Master appointed Don DeLong, Mrs. Hedges, and Mrs. Beougher.

Arrangement was made to have the next meeting Dec. 17. Each family is to bring some holiday "goodies" for a refreshment smorgasbord, and a gift for the exchange.

At a holly and candle decorated table, refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence McKenzie, Barbara McKenzie, and Barbara McKenzie. Mrs. Corilla Pontius.

THE WORLD'S BIGGEST JETLINER, the 231-foot Boeing 747, pretty much dwarfs that Boeing 707 on the runway at Kennedy Airport in New York. It flew in from Seattle with 196 aboard—it can carry 490. It carries 14 stewardesses, the tail is six stories high. The 2,240-mile hop was made in four hours, five minutes. The 747s are $20 million apiece.

Storm Builds Over Rockies And Plains

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A winter-flavored storm built up in the Plains and Rockies today and flung a widening belt of snow and sleet into the midcontinent from New Mexico to the Dakotas and Iowa.

Warnings to travelers were in effect for portions of New Mexico, Kansas, Nebraska and Iowa. A freezing-rain watch was issued for Minnesota.

Snow or sleet pelted Nebraska, Kansas and parts of Colorado, South Dakota and western Iowa. Three inches of snow fell at Grand Junction, Colo., before daybreak. Four or more inches were expected in upland areas of New Mexico.

The storm system was fed by an increasing flow of moisture from the Gulf of Mexico. The Weather Bureau indicated rain or snow would spread over the entire region from the Rockies through the Mississippi Valley by nightfall.

Snow flurries from the Great Lakes to New England.

Most other sections of the East and the Far West were clear and dry.

Cold air lingering over the eastern seaboard descended well into the deep south overnight and dropped temperatures into the upper 20s across Georgia. Readings in the low 30s chilled northern Florida.

Mild weather was confined to southern portions of Florida, Texas and California.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 9 at Marquette County Airport, Mich., to 72 at Brownsville, Tex.

An estimated 900,000 people have been killed in the last century by earthquakes.

Turn Down Request For Black Santas

CINCINNATI (AP) — Local leaders of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference today are expected to answer downtown merchants' refusal to put Negro Santa Claus in stores.

Rev. Otis Moss, local SCLC chairman, said Thursday his group would release a statement later today. He declined comment following a meeting between the SCLC and Fred Lazarus III, chairman of the board of Shillitoes, a division of Federated Department stores, and W.G. Stubenvoll, McAlpin's president and vice president of the Cincinnati Retail Merchants Association.

"We don't agree that Santa Claus is a racism symbol or is immoral," Lazarus said.

"We felt that a black face would be incongruous" with the traditional image of Santa.

"This has nothing to do with equality of employment. It just doesn't fit the symbol as kids have known it."

"This issue is extremely unfair," Lazarus said. "We have worked harder than most businesses to make sure Negroes get equal employment both here and in our stores in other cities."

"I don't think they could have picked any other issue where we'd have turned them down."

Ruehlmann Hits Anti-Nixon Move

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Mayor Eugene T. Ruehlmann of Cincinnati was alone in voicing dissent Thursday as the National League of Cities approved by a voice vote a resolution criticizing the Nixon administration's urban policies.

Ruehlmann said he felt the motion was partisan and did not represent a fair summary of the delegates' views since many delegates had left for home before the vote was taken.

The resolution called the scale of federal fiscal commitment minimal, hit at the administration's plan to funnel money to cities through states, and said neither the administration nor Congress is "fully aware of the critical nature of the urban crisis."

Man Is Charged With Carrying Guns

WEEDSPORT, N. Y. (AP)—Police charged John Cowling, 51, of Youngstown, Ohio, with possession of a deadly weapon after a routine check of his car uncovered more than a dozen guns.

Cowling reportedly had a New York state permit for one of the weapons. He was released on $500 bail.

Robb Denies His Company Killed Civilians

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Maj. Charles Robb says he is anxious for the Pentagon to investigate and clear up an allegation that men in his Marine company had killed or injured Vietnamese civilians.

The 30-year-old son-in-law of former President Lyndon B. Johnson, replying to a report of "indiscriminate killing" by Marines in his command, said: "I know of no single instance in which any of the civilians were injured or killed."

In Washington an aide to Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., announced earlier that the senator had asked the Pentagon to investigate charges of "indiscriminate killing" by U.S. troops.

The charge was made in a letter to Percy from Anthony Martin-Trigona of Champaign, Ill., the aide said.

Columnist Jack Anderson said Thursday in an article published in the New York Post the letter claims the killings were committed by members of Robb's Marine company. Martin-Trigona visited Vietnam as a newspaper correspondent.

At a Las Vegas news conference Thursday, Robb said Percy had informed him of the letter and referred the matter to the Defense Department for investigation.

Referring to Martin-Trigona, Robb told newsmen: "If he found something why didn't he tell anybody about it there? I would like to have known if anything didn't go according to the procedures of conduct in Vietnam."

Robb said he had 200 men under his command and could not swear atrocities hadn't happened without his knowledge.

The officer was here for a Marine district meeting.

Breakfast Pays Off

Nutritionists long have advocated starting the day with a substantial breakfast as a way toward greater achievement. In a rural Oklahoma elementary school it has been confirmed how right they are. In conjunction with the Oklahoma Department of Education, the schoolmen surveyed their students and found 70 per cent coming to school hungry. The school launched a five-cent breakfast for the pupils, with the cost of the citrus juice, milk, toast, cereal or eggs subsidized by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

After a year, not only is there a 28 per cent drop in absenteeism, but achievement test scores averaged 3.5 per cent higher. Greater achievements are expected in succeeding years. But one lesson already is being learned by pupils at one school. A good day demands a good start.

According To Boyle

By LINDA DEUTSCH (For Hal Boyle)

LOS ANGELES (AP) — This is the season of grumbling for a growing American minority group—the new Californians.

Each year they migrate, hopeful runaways from sleet and snow. Then the holidays come, and cheeriness dissolves into homesick gloom.

On palm-lined Sunset Boulevard, fronds sway over plastic Christmas trees for sale. And to immigrants from Dayton or Des Moines, white winters of Currier and Ives paintings seem a world away.

As a veteran of three California Christmases, I was prepared when the first groan came from a recently arrived friend: "It just doesn't seem like the holidays."

The blues began with Thanksgiving, he explained. The day featured 80-degree sunshine, so his mother-in-law dished up dinner on the patio. Turkey under the lemon trees and hibiscus seemed strange.

"How could I tell the kids about pilgrims struggling through a cold winter at Plymouth Rock?" he asked.

"Well," I remarked, "why don't you tell them to remember last winter when you were shoveling snow in Wisconsin and everyone had Hong Kong flu?" He wasn't cheered.

Now another friend—here all of six months—notes fearfully that she's losing the compulsive consumer's most prized possession—her shopping mania.

"I got into department stores and I get panicky. What can I buy my mother for Christmas—a bikini?"

True, traditional gifts are out. No sleds for the kids. No mufflers, mittens or even thermal underwear. And a fur coat is a silly extravagance. Some fashion-conscious ladies have asked Santa for long, heavy maxi-coats, but if they get them, the ladies will roast like the Christmas goose.

Then there's the shopping atmosphere. "What's the pleasure of shopping," my friend wailed, "if you don't wind up with a sore throat?"

"Listen," I tell them, "in a year you'll get used to it; you'll even like it."

Meanwhile, nostalgia hangs heavy as smog.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Two industries with combined assets of nearly $250 billion—life insurance and mutual funds—swiftly are resolving the differences that made them enemies just a few years ago and are entering marriages of convenience.

The repercussions from this enormous merging of financial power haven't been fully felt yet, but they soon will be. Better financial protection for consumers might be one impact.

And antitrust activity could well ensue if the mergers threaten to create too great a concentration of power.

By the end of the third quarter of this year, 153 mutual funds and 79 insurance companies, most of them life insurers, had in one way or another to various degrees merged their operations.

By the end of September, a study by Wiesenberger Financial Services shows, some $8 billion or 16 per cent of the total net assets of the mutual fund industry were in the insurance fold, and that the trend was continuing.

Most of the initiative has come from the insurers, who have either purchased existing mutual fund management companies or have organized their own mutual funds from scratch.

Some of these arrangements dwarf the size of some widely publicized mergers among manufacturing concerns—mergers that in some instances have attracted comment, criticism and action from antitrust officials.

For example, Anchor Funds, with assets of nearly $2 billion, has been acquired by Washington National Insurance Co. Tsi Management Funds, with assets of $343 million, now operates with Continental Assurance Co.

The strength of the movement hardly could have been foreseen just five years ago. At that time the life insurers considered arrangements with the funds to be dangerous to the very foundation of life insurance.

Mutual funds offer purchasers a return on their investment that may float or sink with the state of the economy. During prolonged inflation, the funds very likely can ride crest: in a collapse, the funds would be forced to reduce their return.

Insurance men had for decades promoted the idea of fixed returns, regardless of the state of the economy. An insured person was guaranteed a stated return on death or at maturation of the policy.

This meant that the insured could get no more, but no less, than was agreed upon at the time the policy was bought.

But, as an inflationary psychology developed in the United States during the past two or three years, the thinking of insurance companies changed. Customers complained that because of inflation their fixed dollars were really shrunken dollars.

What had been a mere dalliance between a few insurers and funds soon became a torrid industry-wide romance. In 1968, Wiesenberger states, 13 mutual funds were sponsored by insurers, and in 1969 the total rose to 21.

In being able to offer mutual funds in a package with insurance, the insurers hope to effectively counter the complaints of their customers.

Nixon Threatens Special Session

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon threatened Thursday to call Congress back into special session Dec. 26 unless it acts on all appropriation measures before adjourning later this month, Republican leaders said.

Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania and Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan related the President's threat following the weekly Republican leadership meeting with Nixon at the White House.

"The President is very firm that action must be taken," Scott said.

Try and Stop Me

GRETA GARBO, more aloof today, if possible, than she was in her heyday, was visibly annoyed when a woman seized her arm in a big Fifth Avenue department store and loudly demanded, "Say, are you who I think you are?" In a cutting voice, Miss Garbo snapped, "No." More irritating still, the inquisitor rejoined a friend at the handkerchief counter and gloated loudly, "I TOLD you she wasn't Kate Hepburn!"

Groucho Marx once explained to Critic Walter Kerr the distinction between an amateur comedian and a professional. An amateur, opined Groucho, thinks it's funny if you dress up a man as an old lady, put him in a wheelchair, and give the chair a push that sends it hurtling down a steep slope toward a forbidding stone wall. "And what about the professional?" prodded Kerr. "For a pro," declared Groucho, "it's got to be a real old lady."

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I am about to go to the hospital to have a hysterectomy operation. The reasons were thoroughly explained to me but I still have many unanswered and confusing questions. I find it hard to take up a great deal of my doctor's time to learn how this operation will affect me as a woman and as a mother.

Mrs. S.K., Iowa

Dear Mrs. K.: For some of my other readers let me explain that a hysterectomy operation involves the removal of the uterus or womb. In most instances the ovaries and the Fallopian tubes, all part of the reproductive organs, are removed. This depends on the judgment of the surgeon at the time of surgery.

The operation is almost always done because of the presence of fibroid tumors of the uterus. These are benign or non-cancerous growths that may produce discomfort because of their size and pressure on the bladder or rectum. There are, of course, other reasons for surgery.

The other phase of your problem interests me greatly. All physicians today are aware of the tremendous psychological overtones of this operation. They, therefore, are ready and willing to discuss the intimacies that are involved in the total emotional reaction of women about to undergo this operation. Your hesitation to discuss these with your doctor does you and him an injustice. It would spare you the anxiety that the removal of the uterus could make you less attractive as a woman or a less capable mother to the children you have already borne.

You will find, as many women do, that there is a greater psycho-sexual freedom and there will be no loss of personal attractiveness.

There have been little or no newspaper reports about the advantages of taking the "flu" injections this winter. I assume that there is no expectation of an epidemic. Should the injections be taken anyway?

Mr. K. N., Ohio

Dear Mr. N.: The reports thus far from the public health officials, do not seem to indicate that a widespread or severe epidemic of influenza or Asian flu is to be expected. For this we are, of course, exceedingly grateful.

Nevertheless, I personally believe that there are advantages in using an Asian flu vaccine

Boycott Is Boomerang

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

It's difficult to fathom President George Meany of the AFL-CIO. On foreign policy issues involving the fate of the free individual he thinks absolutely straight. But if he doesn't lose his cool on domestic issues, he certainly loses his sense of logic.

There's this business of the boycott of General Electric products, for example. The AFL-CIO officials apparently think that if their "informational" pickets can persuade retailers not to stock GE toasters and refrigerators it will somehow succeed in bringing the GE management to its knees in the current strike dispute. But even if the unions were successful in hurting GE at the customers' level it would only stand to harm the GE worker over the long run.

The boycott is a boomerang any way you take it. For two grape harvesting seasons the AFL-CIO's United Farm Workers Organizing Committee has been trying to persuade an essentially middle-class republic to refrain from buying and eating California table grapes from the San Joaquin Valley. The notion behind the grape boycott is that economic pressure might suddenly force the vineyard owners to sign union shop agreements with the UFWOC's Cesar Chavez, who has only been able to unionize two per cent of California's agricultural workers by persuasion. But what has been the actual effect of the grape boycott? As far as one can judge, it has cut down on the grape sales in a few big city outlets. But, going into its second year, the boycott is losing steam. The middle class doesn't care.

Insofar as the boycott has been effective, it has hurt the workers. Last year there were a good many four and five day weeks in the vineyards instead of the customary six-day harvesting season routine. But the loss of time and pay was not sufficient to put any particular steam behind the Cesar Chavez organizing efforts. The attempted coercion was resented. Even if the boycott had been successful it would not have helped either Chavez or the vineyard workers.

There is no law that compels San Joaquin Valley land owners to grow grapes, and if the cost of keeping a vineyard threatens to go too high there is nothing to prevent the owner from ripping up his vines and planting a more accommodating crop that can be harvested with machinery.

In calling for a boycott of GE products, the AFL-CIO has almost certainly misread the temper of the country. Unions are almost universally accepted today, but in gaining acceptance they have ceased to be holy. If the unions can get a better wage deal out of GE by striking, there will be pious complaints in some quarters about wage-push inflation. And if GE should be chivied into granting the union shop, a few principled believers in free choice would lament the continuing decline of individual liberty. But that would be about it.

A boycott, however, can be an intensely annoying thing. Retailers who have stocked GE electrical appliances for years must resent the effort to disrupt their normal commercial relationships. As for the housewife, why should she regard it as her business to help a union raise the cost of toasters, television sets and deep freezers? A boycott hits at the consumer, narrowing his choice and forcing him to shop in a coercive atmosphere. The consumer happens to be everybody, not just the minority that thinks unions can do no wrong. There isn't enough leverage in a boycott to do anything more than embitter a situation.

But let us assume for the sake of argument that a boycott of GE products were successful. Eventually the striking GE workers would be going back to their jobs. They would find that Westinghouse and Allis-Chalmers and General Motors salesmen had taken business away from GE, possibly forever. For labor, the boycott, where it is successful, is a sure-fire way of fouling one's own nest.

During the 1968 political campaign the AFL-CIO picketers carried signs, "Nixon eats grapes." Nixon won the election. If the middle class is sufficiently riled by the latest AFL-CIO boycott idiocy, maybe a few Congressmen will be elected in 1970 by swearing to their suburban constituents that they will never, no never, cease to use GE toasters in their kitchens or TV sets in their living rooms.

Breakfast Pays Off

Nutritionists long have advocated starting the day with a substantial breakfast as a way toward greater achievement. In a rural Oklahoma elementary school it has been confirmed how right they are. In conjunction with the Oklahoma Department of Education, the schoolmen surveyed their students and found 70 per cent coming to school hungry.

The school launched a five-cent breakfast for the pupils, with the cost of the citrus juice, milk, toast, cereal or eggs subsidized by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

After a year, not only is there a 28 per cent drop in absenteeism, but achievement test scores averaged 3.5 per cent higher. Greater achievements are expected in succeeding years. But one lesson already is being learned by pupils at one school. A good day demands a good start.

According To Boyle

By LINDA DEUTSCH (For Hal Boyle)

LOS ANGELES (AP) — This is the season of grumbling for a growing American minority group—the new Californians.

Each year they migrate, hopeful runaways from sleet and snow. Then the holidays come, and cheeriness dissolves into homesick gloom.

On palm-lined Sunset Boulevard, fronds sway over plastic Christmas trees for sale. And to immigrants from Dayton or Des Moines, white winters of Currier and Ives paintings seem a world away.

As a veteran of three California Christmases, I was prepared when the first groan came from a recently arrived friend: "It just doesn't seem like the holidays."

The blues began with Thanksgiving, he explained. The day featured 80-degree sunshine, so his mother-in-law dished up dinner on the patio. Turkey under the lemon trees and hibiscus seemed strange.

"How could I tell the kids about pilgrims struggling through a cold winter at Plymouth Rock?" he asked.

"Well," I remarked, "why don't you tell them to remember last winter when you were shoveling snow in Wisconsin and everyone had Hong Kong flu?"

He wasn't cheered.

Now another friend—here all of six months—notes fearfully that she's losing the compulsive consumer's most prized possession—her shopping mania.

"I got into department stores and I get panicky. What can I buy my mother for Christmas—a bikini?"

True, traditional gifts are out. No sleds for the kids. No mufflers, mittens or even thermal underwear. And a fur coat is a silly extravagance. Some fashion-conscious ladies have asked Santa for long, heavy maxi-coats, but if they get them, the ladies will roast like the Christmas goose.

Then there's the shopping atmosphere. "What's the pleasure of shopping," my friend wailed, "if you don't wind up with a sore throat?"

"Listen," I tell them, "in a year you'll get used to it; you'll even like it."

Meanwhile, nostalgia hangs heavy as smog.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Two industries with combined assets of nearly $250 billion—life insurance and mutual funds—swiftly are resolving the differences that made them enemies just a few years ago and are entering marriages of convenience.

The repercussions from this enormous merging of financial power haven't been fully felt yet, but they soon will be. Better financial protection for consumers might be one impact.

And antitrust activity could well ensue if the mergers threaten to create too great a concentration of power.

By the end of the third quarter of this year, 153 mutual funds and 79 insurance companies, most of them life insurers, had in one way or another and to various degrees merged their operations.

By the end of September, a study by Wiesenberger Financial Services shows, some $8 billion or 16 per cent of the total net assets of the mutual fund industry were in the insurance fold, and that the trend was continuing.

Most of the initiative has come from the insurers, who have either purchased existing mutual fund management companies or have organized their own mutual funds from scratch.

Some of these arrangements dwarf the size of some widely publicized mergers among manufacturing concerns—mergers that in some instances have attracted comment, criticism and action from antitrust officials.

For example, Anchor Funds, with assets of nearly $2 billion, has been acquired by Washington National Insurance Co. Tsal Management Funds, with assets of $343 million, now operates with Continental Assurance Co.

The strength of the movement hardly could have been foreseen just five years ago. At that time the life insurers considered arrangements with the funds to be dangerous to the very foundation of life insurance.

Mutual funds offer purchasers a return on their investment that may float or sink with the state of the economy. During prolonged inflation, the funds very likely can ride crest: in a collapse, the funds would be forced to reduce their return.

Insurance men had for decades promoted the idea of fixed returns, regardless of the state of the economy. An insured person was guaranteed a stated return on death or at maturation of the policy.

This meant that the insured could get no more, but no less, than was agreed upon at the time the policy was bought.

But, as an inflationary psychology developed in the United States during the past two or three years, the thinking of insurance companies changed. Customers complained that because of inflation their fixed dollars were really shrunken dollars.

What had been a mere dalliance between a few insurers and funds soon became a torrid industry-wide romance. In 1968, Wiesenberger states, 13 mutual funds were sponsored by insurers, and in 1969 the total rose to 21.

In being able to offer mutual funds in a package with insurance, the insurers hope to effectively counter the complaints of their customers.

Nixon Threatens Special Session

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon threatened Thursday to call Congress back into special session Dec. 26 unless it acts on all appropriation measures before adjourning later this month, Republican leaders said.

Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania and Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan related the President's threat following the weekly Republican leadership meeting with Nixon at the White House.

"The President is very firm that action must be taken," Scott said.

Try and Stop Me

GRETA GARBO, more aloof today, if possible, than she was in her heyday, was visibly annoyed when a woman seized her arm in a big Fifth Avenue department store and loudly demanded, "Say, are you who I think you are?" In a cutting voice, Miss Garbo snapped, "No." More irritating still, the inquisitor rejoined a friend at the handkerchief counter and gloated loudly, "I TOLD you she wasn't Kate Hepburn!"

Groucho Marx once explained to Critic Walter Kerr the distinction between an amateur comedian and a professional. An amateur, opined Groucho, thinks it's funny if you dress up a man as an old lady, put him in a wheelchair, and give the chair a push that sends it hurtling down a steep slope toward a forbidding stone wall. "And what about the professional?" prodded Kerr. "For a pro," declared Groucho, "it's got to be a real old lady."

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I am about to go to the hospital to have a hysterectomy operation. The reasons were thoroughly explained to me but I still have many unanswered and confusing questions. I find it hard to take up a great deal of my doctor's time to learn how this operation will affect me as a woman and as a mother.

Dear Mrs. K.: For some of my other readers let me explain that a hysterectomy operation involves the removal of the uterus or womb. In most instances the ovaries and the Fallopian tubes, all part of the reproductive organs, are removed. This depends on the judgment of the surgeon at the time of surgery.

The operation is almost always done because of the presence of fibroid tumors of the uterus. These are benign or non-cancerous growths that may produce discomfort because of their size and pressure on the bladder or rectum. There are, of course, other reasons for surgery.

The other phase of your problem interests me greatly. All physicians today are aware of the tremendous psychological overtones of this operation. They, therefore, are ready and willing to discuss the intimacies that are involved in the total emotional reaction of women about to undergo this operation. Your hesitation to discuss these with your doctor does you and him an injustice. It would spare him the anxiety that the removal of the uterus could make you less attractive as a woman or a less capable mother to the children you have already borne.

You will find, as many women do, that there is a greater psychosexual freedom and there will be no loss of personal attractiveness.

There have been little or no newspaper reports about the advantages of taking the "flu" injections this winter. I assume that there is no expectation of an epidemic. Should the injections be taken anyway?

Mr. K. N., Ohio: Dear Mr. N.: The reports thus far from the public health officials, do not seem to indicate that a widespread or severe epidemic of influenza or Asian flu is to be expected. For this we are, of course, exceedingly grateful.

Nevertheless, I personally believe that there are advantages in using an Asian flu vaccine

Boycott Is Boomerang

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

It's difficult to fathom President George Meany of the AFL-CIO. On foreign policy issues involving the fate of the free individual he thinks absolutely straight. But if he doesn't lose his cool on domestic issues, he certainly loses his sense of logic.

There's this business of the boycott of General Electric products, for example. The AFL-CIO officials apparently think that if their "informational" pickets can persuade retailers not to stock GE toasters and refrigerators it will somehow succeed in bringing the GE management to its knees in the current strike dispute. But even if the unions were successful in hurting GE at the customers' level it would only stand to harm the GE worker over the long run.

The boycott is a boomerang any way you take it. For two grape harvesting seasons the AFL-CIO's United Farm Workers Organizing Committee has been trying to persuade an essentially middle-class republic to refrain from buying and eating California table grapes from the San Joaquin Valley. The notion behind the grape boycott is that economic pressure might suddenly force the vineyard owners to sign union shop agreements with the UFWOC's Cesar Chavez, who has only been able to unionize two per cent of California's agricultural workers by persuasion. But what has been the actual effect of the grape boycott? As far as one can judge, it has cut down on the grape sales in a few big city outlets. But, going into its second year, the boycott is losing steam. The middle class doesn't care.

Insofar as the boycott has been effective, it has hurt the workers. Last year there were a good many four and five day weeks in the vineyards instead of the customary six-day harvesting season routine. But the loss of time and pay was not sufficient to put any particular steam behind the Cesar Chavez organizing efforts. The attempted coercion was resisted. Even if the boycott had been successful it would not have helped either Chavez or the vineyard workers.

There is no law that compels San Joaquin Valley land owners to grow grapes, and if the cost of keeping a vineyard threatens to go too high there is nothing to prevent the owner from ripping up his vines and planting a more accommodating crop that can be harvested with machinery.

In calling for a boycott of GE products, the AFL-CIO has almost certainly misread the temper of the country. Unions are almost universally accepted today, but in gaining acceptance they have ceased to be holy. If the unions can get a better wage deal out of GE by striking, there will be pious complaints in some quarters about wage-push inflation. And if GE should be chivied into granting the union shop, a few principled believers in free choice would lament the continuing decline of individual liberty. But that would be about it.

A boycott, however, can be an intensely annoying thing. Retailers who have stocked GE electrical appliances for years must resent the effort to disrupt their normal commercial relationships. As for the housewife, why should she regard it as her business to help a union raise the cost of toasters, television sets and deep freezers? A boycott hits at the consumer, narrowing his choice and forcing him to shop in a coercive atmosphere. The consumer happens to be everybody, not just the minority that thinks unions can do no wrong. There isn't enough leverage in a boycott to do anything more than embitter a situation.

But let us assume for the sake of argument that a boycott of GE products were successful. Eventually the striking GE workers would be going back to their jobs. They would find that Westinghouse and Allis-Chalmers and General Motors salesmen had taken business away from GE, possibly forever. For labor, the boycott, where it is successful, is a sure-fire way of fouling one's own nest.

If the middle class is sufficiently riled by the latest AFL-CIO boycott idiocy, maybe a few Congressmen will be elected in 1970 by swearing to their suburban constituents that they will never, no never, cease to use GE toasters in their kitchens or TV sets in their living rooms.

Lodge Says U.S. To Stay At Meetings

PARIS (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, addressing the Vietnam peace talks for the last time, said today the United States will continue to participate fully in the negotiations and to seek a compromise.

Lodge announced his resignation last month after 10 months as head of the U.S. delegation. His deputy, Philip Habib, is expected to lead the delegation until President Nixon names a successor for Lodge.

"The United States government seeks an early negotiated settlement," Lodge told the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong delegates at the weekly session. "It will continue to seek it. Although I am leaving these meetings, the President's representative will continue to participate fully in them."

"We remain ready for give-and-take negotiation in any meeting place. We remain ready for compromise. When you are ready, progress can be speedy."

Lodge spoke after listening to the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese denounce the United States for the alleged mass killing of civilians at My Lai by U.S. soldiers in 1968. The Viet Cong asserted U.S. and South Vietnamese troops are continuing the mass slaughter of civilians every hour.

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — California starts taxing some church businesses on Jan. 1 but no one in the state government or the churches themselves seems to know exactly who will be taxed, where they are, or how much money will be raised.

A law passed by the 1969 legislature and signed by Gov. Ronald Reagan extends the state's corporation tax to businesses directly operated by religious organizations but unrelated to their spiritual function.

Church and state officials alike say they cannot at the moment think of a specific business which isn't taxed now but will be under the new law.

Such things as cemeteries, publications, old-age homes and other activities directly associated with church functioning won't be considered unrelated income. They will remain tax free.

But if a church ran a movie house devoted to family type films, for instance, it would be taxed. The new law requires all churches to list types and sources of income. The amount need not be reported unless it comes from an unrelated business.

Sponsors of the law was Democratic Sen. Anthony C. Beilenson, of Beverly Hills, who is Jewish. He says he was surprised at how easily the bill went through and became law. Most major denominations had endorsed some such form of legislation.

In the rest of the nation during the past few months many denominations have expressed an almost eager willingness, in the name of fairness, to lose their tax-exempt status when it comes to outside businesses they operate.

The National Council of Churches and the U.S. Catholic Conference issued a joint appeal last May to the U.S. Congress to eliminate special income tax immunity which the churches enjoy on unrelated business income.

Mobile Heart Unit Studied

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Benefits of Ohio State University's "heartmobile," an emergency coronary care vehicle, will be examined at a workshop here Saturday.

The mobile unit, first of its kind in the nation and staffed by a specially trained crew of the fire department emergency squad and a doctor, has been in service since last April.

Since then, the unit has made about 700 calls to persons suspected of having acute cardiac-related diseases.

The workshop is being sponsored by the university's Department of Medicine in cooperation with the Ohio State Regional Medical Program and the Central Ohio Heart Association.

More than 150 physicians, emergency service operators and industrial representatives serving the cardiology field will discuss the medical, operational and technical aspects of the unit.

A tsunami, Japanese for harbor wave, or tidal wave, has nothing to do with tides. It may be triggered by an underwater earthquake, volcanic explosion or earth slide. It races with the speed of a jet plane and strikes with the force of dynamite.

All such bodies make an important distinction, however, concerning tax exemptions on their houses of worship. A major suit is now pending before the U.S. Supreme Court, brought by a citizen named

Frederick Walz against the New York City Tax Commission. The Walz complaint alleges that tax exemptions for churches and synagogues violate the American Constitution's church-state separation tradition.

Lodge Says U.S. To Stay At Meetings

PARIS (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, addressing the Vietnam peace talks for the last time, said today the United States will continue to participate fully in the negotiations and to seek a compromise.

Lodge announced his resignation last month after 10 months as head of the U.S. delegation. His deputy, Philip Habib, is expected to lead the delegation until President Nixon names a successor for Lodge.

"The United States government seeks an early negotiated settlement," Lodge told the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong delegates at the weekly session. "It will continue to seek it. Although I am leaving these meetings, the President's representative will continue to participate fully in them."

"We remain ready for give-and-take negotiation in any meeting place. We remain ready for compromise. When you are ready, progress can be speedy."

Lodge spoke after listening to the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese denounce the United States for the alleged mass killing of civilians at My Lai by U.S. soldiers in 1968. The Viet Cong asserted U.S. and South Vietnamese troops are continuing the mass slaughter of civilians every hour.

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — California starts taxing some church businesses on Jan. 1, but no one in the state government or the churches themselves seems to know exactly who will be taxed, where they are, or how much money will be raised.

A law passed by the 1969 legislature and signed by Gov. Ronald Reagan extends the state's corporation tax to businesses directly operated by religious organizations but unrelated to their spiritual function.

Church and state officials alike say they cannot at the moment think of a specific business which isn't taxed now but will be under the new law.

Such things as cemeteries, publications, old-age homes and other activities directly associated with church functioning won't be considered unrelated income. They will remain tax free.

But if a church ran a movie house devoted to family type films, for instance, it would be taxed. The new law requires all churches to list types and sources of income. The amount need not be reported unless it comes from an unrelated business.

Sponsors of the law was Democratic Sen. Anthony C. Beilenson, of Beverly Hills, who is Jewish. He says he was surprised at how easily the bill went through and became law. Most major denominations had endorsed some such form of legislation.

In the rest of the nation during the past few months many denominations have expressed an almost eager willingness, in the name of fairness, to lose their tax-exempt status when it comes to outside businesses they operate.

The National Council of Churches and the U.S. Catholic Conference issued a joint appeal last May to the U.S. Congress to eliminate special income tax immunity which the churches enjoy on unrelated business income.

All such bodies make an important distinction, however, concerning tax exemptions on their houses of worship. A major suit is now pending before the U.S. Supreme Court, brought by a citizen named Frederick Walz against the New York City Tax Commission. The Walz complaint alleges that tax exemptions for churches and synagogues violate the American Constitution's church-state separation tradition.

Mobile Heart Unit Studied

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Benefits of Ohio State University's "heartmobile," an emergency coronary care vehicle, will be examined at a workshop here Saturday.

The mobile unit, first of its kind in the nation and staffed by a specially trained crew of the fire department emergency squad and a doctor, has been in service since last April.

Since then, the unit has made about 700 calls to persons suspected of having acute cardiac-related diseases.

The workshop is being sponsored by the university's Department of Medicine in cooperation with the Ohio State Regional Medical Program and the Central Ohio Heart Association.

More than 150 physicians, emergency service operators and industrial representatives serving the cardiology field will discuss the medical, operational and technical aspects of the unit.

A tsunami, Japanese for harbor wave, or tidal wave, has nothing to do with tides. It may be triggered by an underwater earthquake, volcanic explosion or earth slide. It races with the speed of a jet plane and strikes with the force of dynamite.

Wedding Rites Read In Laurel Hills Church

Wedding vows were exchanged Saturday, Nov. 15, at 7:30 p.m. by Miss Sharon Louise VanFosson and John David Karr. Dr. Clayton Lutz read the double ring ceremony at the Laurel Hills United Methodist Church in Laurelville.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Van Fossen, Route 2, Laurelville, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Karr of Laurelville.

Mrs. Melvin Hunt of Tarlton, was her sister's matron of honor, and Mr. Randall McNeal of Adelphi, served as best man for Mr. Karr.

A reception in the social rooms of the church immediately followed the ceremony. Hostesses were Miss Susie Disbennett, Miss Marlene Phillips, Miss Kathy Rooney of Columbus, a niece of the groom and Mrs. Lois Swepston, sister of the groom.

Both the bride and groom are graduates of Laurelville High School. Mr. Karr is employed by E. I. DuPont of Circleville.

Golden Wedding Is Observed

Married Nov. 27, 1919, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Leshner of Adelphi, recently celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary with a family dinner at the Wardell Party Home.

Present for the festivities were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Leshner and Carla, Wadsworth; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Seidel, Jeff and Dick; Miss Dorothy Duffy, Roby H. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Todd Ortlip and Geoffrey, all of Columbus; Mrs. Marie Burr, Fayetteville and Mr. and Mrs. Ray C. Johnson, 557 E. Franklin St.

An open house was held at the L-K Restaurant on the Saturday preceding the dinner. The serving table held a wedding cake and a centerpiece of yellow roses and mums. Gold candles and yellow roses encircling the punch bowl completed the decorations.

Fishhook Club Slates Cantata

The Fishhook Club will present the choir of the Northwest Church of Columbus in a cantata entitled "The Wonder Of Christmas," by John W. Person, 7 p.m. Thursday at the Good Shepherd United Methodist Church.

The public is invited to attend to hear the choir sing the Christmas story.

Special Flavor Bagged In Game-Bird Cookery

By ALICE DENHOFF

Daddy's gone a-hunting and back he comes with a bag of birds. Then it's up to the lady of the house to cook and serve a dish of tender, succulent game.

Wild birds have the same food value as domestic ones, but the flavor is unique. The arm-chair hunter can duplicate many popular game birds in a domestic state — farm raised and available at local markets, fresh, canned or quick-frozen.

Hanging Argument

There are still arguments as to hanging or not hanging game birds. The longer the bird is hung the stronger will be the flavor and the more tender the flesh. Frozen birds should be thawed in the refrigerator rather than at room temperature. Cook at once; never re-freeze.

One of the most popular vegetable accompaniments for game birds is crunchy, piquant sauerkraut, the zesty tang of which brings out the natural game flavor.

Now down to game bird and sauerkraut recipes:

PHEASANT WITH SAUERKRAUT AND DUMPLINGS

3 medium onions
3 ribs of celery
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 cup soft bread crumbs
1/2 cup heavy cream
1 cup mashed cooked or canned Louisiana yams
1/4 teaspoon rosemary leaves
2 pheasants (2 pounds each)
Salt and pepper
3 cups chicken broth or bouillon
1 can (12 ounces) beef
1/4 teaspoon ground ginger
3/4 cups drained sauerkraut
2 eggs
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder.
Finely chop 1 onion and 1 rib celery; saute in 1 tablespoon of the butter until crisp-tender. Soak bread crumbs in cream. Stir in sauteed vegetables, yams and rosemary; mix well. Sprinkle birds inside and out with salt and pepper. Stuff with prepared bread crumb mixture; truss.

Chop remaining onions and celery. In a really large saucepan or Dutch oven, combine broth, beef, chopped onions and celery, and ginger. Cover and bring to boil. Place birds in boiling liquid; cover and simmer 1 hour or until birds are tender. Add sauerkraut for last 30 minutes cooking time.

Meanwhile, make a dough: cream remaining butter; beat in eggs. Sift together flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt and baking powder. Stir into egg mixture; mix thoroughly. Chill at least 20 minutes.

Remove birds from sauerkraut mixture. Keep them warm. Allow mixture to boil. Drop dough by heaping teaspoonfuls into pan and cook, covered, 15 minutes or until dumplings are done. Mixture should continue to boil throughout cooking. Arrange sauerkraut and dumplings with liquid in shallow serving dish or deep platter; place pheasants on top.

Serves 6. PAN FRIED SQUAB WITH SAUTEED SAUERKRAUT

6 squabs (10 to 11 ounces each)
2 teaspoons salt
Freshly ground pepper
Juice of 1 lemon
1/4 pound butter or margarine
3 1/2 cups sauerkraut, drained
1 large red onion, sliced
1 tablespoon poppy seed
1/2 cup halved toasted filberts
1/4 teaspoon thyme leaves
Season squab with salt, pepper and lemon juice. In large skillet, saute squab in butter, 25 to 30 minutes, turning occasionally until done. Remove to warm oven. Saute sauerkraut in drippings with remaining ingredients until sauerkraut is browned. Serve with squab.

Resort Spot Under Fire By Negroes

KENT, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Civil Rights Commission says its investigation supported claims of a Kent State University student that Holiday Sands, Inc., a summer recreation spot near Ravenna, discriminated against Negroes.

An attempt to get black students admitted to the swim club was described Thursday at a hearing on the commission's discrimination charges against the club.

Miss Pamela Lincoln, a black coed, complained that she and three black friends were barred from the place on July 1, 1968, although four white friends had been admitted minutes earlier.

The commission contends that Holiday Sands is a public recreation spot rather than a private club and that membership is denied to Negroes.

The co-owner, Arthur Klohn, said some Negroes do belong to the club. He presented photographs he had taken showing Negroes on the beach, swimming and using play equipment. He contended the club is private and said it has 2,500 members.

Holiday Sands facilities include a man-made lake, picnic grounds and recreational equipment.

The Civil Rights Commission also has charged that a busload of about 70 children from Cleveland slum neighborhoods, mostly Negroes, were turned away from Holiday Sands last summer despite prior arrangements made to swim there. A hearing on that charge is to be held later this month.

Computer Fails
Smart Student

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — William Arthur, a senior honor pupil at Eastridge High School in suburban Irondequoit, was stunned when he received a failing grade in English.

A guidance counselor asked at the bottom of his report, "What happened?"

His mother wrote back, "Ask your computer."

School officials found that Arthur had scored a perfect 100, or "A plus," but the computer was programmed to read only two digits.

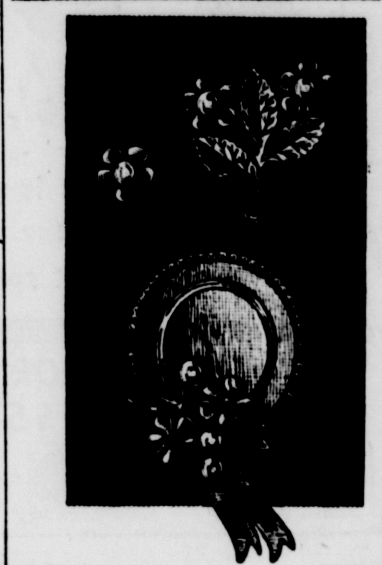

Juvenile Traffic
Costs Go Up $5

CINCINNATI (AP) — It will cost juvenile traffic offenders an extra $5 beginning today, in addition to fines and court costs when they are convicted in Juvenile Court.

Judge Benjamin Schwartz said the money will be used to keep the court's traffic school in operation.

W-W-HO'S N-N-NEUROUS?—Rep. Alexander Pirnie, R-N.Y., looks a bit wrought up as he picks the first capsule in the national draft lottery in Washington. Looking on is longtime Selective Service Director Gen. Lewis Hershey.

An abandoned cabin on the Spahn Ranch north of Los Angeles, a "hideout" of the hippies being investigated.

KEY TO MASS MURDER—From Susan Denise Atkins (left) comes the tale of mass murder of five persons at the Sharon Tate residence in Los Angeles. Miss Atkins, 21, is under arrest in another murder as well. She claims Charles Manson, 34, of the hippie cult "The Manson Family," exercised hypnotic control. Another of those under arrest is Linda Louise Kasabian, 20, shown covering up as she leaves a police car for arraignment in Concord, N.H.

Supreme Court Is Asked For Major Obscenity Rule

WASHINGTON (AP) — Distributors of "I Am Curious (Yellow)" have sent a copy of the Swedish sex film to the Supreme Court along with a plea that would make legal history.

Grove Press, Inc., asked the justices Wednesday to conduct their own private showing of the erotic hit and conclude it is not obscene.

Beyond that, though, the American distributors asked the justices to rule that no official may prevent adults from seeing any movie in an American theater—whether it is obscene or not.

This plea seeks to expand a major free speech ruling by the court last April that possession of obscene films or printed matter in the privacy of a man's home cannot be considered a crime.

"There is no rational distinction," attorneys for Grove Press said, "between the right of a person to satisfy his intellectual and emotional needs in the privacy of his own home and his right to satisfy those needs in the privacy of a movie theater."

Besides, they added, "only adults who voluntarily elect to see the film will view it, and they are free to leave the theater at any time if it does not meet their expectations."

The Supreme Court, in 1961, ruled the Constitution permits officials to censor films before they are shown publicly. Since then, however, the court has upset various film bans and warned that distributors must have a chance to test the censors' rulings quickly.

Customs officials seized "I Am Curious (Yellow)" when it was first imported from Sweden at the end of 1967. The U.S. Court of Appeals in New York City ordered it released for distribution in November 1968.

Since then more than 2½ million Americans have seen the movie in 25 states and the District of Columbia. But the film has been banned in several other states and is the subject of lawsuits in 13 states.

The current case comes to the high court from Maryland where the Court of Appeals decided in October "the dominant theme of the film, taken as a whole, appeals to a prurient interest in sex and is patently offensive."

When Should We Decide About Religion?

Some things are absolutely essential to manhood. One of them is knowing how to tie a necktie.

Obviously any ability must be acquired before there are regular demands for its use. That's why someone else decided that we must learn to tie our own tie.

All religious education is built on the same principle. Faith and moral understanding must be gained before doubt and temptation are encountered. Our parents, our Church train us for constructive living.

Of course, there is nothing illogical in the oft-heard contention that, when a person is old enough, he can make up his own mind about religion.

That's exactly what millions of us have done!

But in almost every case our parents gave us adequate and continuing preparation for that decision. With the guidance of the Church we learned the value of faith and spiritual perception. Then we were able to make our vital decision from knowledge and experience!

Supreme Court Is Asked For Major Obscenity Rule

WASHINGTON (AP) — Distributors of "I Am Curious (Yellow)" have sent a copy of the Swedish sex film to the Supreme Court along with a plea that would make legal history.

Grove Press, Inc., asked the justices Wednesday to conduct their own private showing of the erotic hit and conclude it is not obscene.

Beyond that, though, the American distributors asked the justices to rule that no official may prevent adults from seeing any movie in an American theater—whether it is obscene or not.

This plea seeks to expand a major free speech ruling by the court last April that possession of obscene films or printed matter in the privacy of a man's home cannot be considered a crime.

"There is no rational distinction," attorneys for Grove Press said, "between the right of a person to satisfy his intellectual and emotional needs in the privacy of his own home and his right to satisfy those needs in the privacy of a movie theater."

Besides, they added, "only adults who voluntarily elect to see the film will view it, and they are free to leave the theater at any time if it does not meet their expectations."

The Supreme Court, in 1961, ruled the Constitution permits officials to censor films before they are shown publicly. Since then, however, the court has upset various film bans and warned that distributors must have a chance to test the censors' rulings quickly.

Customs officials seized "I Am Curious (Yellow)" when it was first imported from Sweden at the end of 1967. The U.S. Court of Appeals in New York City ordered it released for distribution in November 1968.

Since then more than 2½ million Americans have seen the movie in 25 states and the District of Columbia. But the film has been banned in several other states and is the subject of lawsuits in 13 states.

The current case comes to the high court from Maryland where the Court of Appeals decided in October "the dominant theme of the film, taken as a whole, appeals to a prurient interest in sex and is patently offensive."

When Should We Decide About Religion?

Some things are absolutely essential to manhood. One of them is knowing how to tie a necktie.

Obviously any ability must be acquired before there are regular demands for its use. That's why someone else decided that we must learn to tie our own tie.

All religious education is built on the same principle. Faith and moral understanding must be gained before doubt and temptation are encountered. Our parents, our Church train us for constructive living.

Of course, there is nothing illogical in the oft-heard contention that, when a person is old enough, he can make up his own mind about religion.

That's exactly what millions of us have done!

But in almost every case our parents gave us adequate and continuing preparation for that decision. With the guidance of the Church we learned the value of faith and spiritual perception. Then we were able to make our vital decision from knowledge and experience!

Members of the Teays Valley High School football team, their fathers and coaches were the honored guests at the November 18 meeting of the Ashville Kiwanis Club. The dinner meeting was held in the high school cafeteria.

The speaker of the evening was the Rev. Fred Ketner who gave a very inspirational talk on "Don't Miss the Cuspidor". The program was planned by Don Forquer.

Mr. Charles Thomas of the Industrial Arts Department of the high school was the guest of the president, Everett Beers. Mr. Thomas was given a letter of commendation for the assistance given by his department to the school and sheriff in recovering articles

McCormack In Trouble

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bitter struggle over antipoverty legislation has widened the split between Speaker John W. McCormack and liberal House Democrats.

Over McCormack's strenuous objections, liberals Wednesday forced postponement of the controversial antipoverty bill moments before it was due to be called up.

The almost unprecedented action was designed to give backers of the bill, which would continue the present antipoverty program with only minor changes, more time to line up support.

Otherwise they feared defeat at the hands of a Republican-southern Democrat coalition backing an alternate proposal to shift major responsibility for the antipoverty effort from the federal government to the states.

McCormack, under pressure to wind up the current House session by Dec. 20, refused at first to consider demands for a delay. But he was forced to yield during a stormy meeting in his office Wednesday morning.

Saxbe, Young Agree

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ohio Sens. Stephen M. Young, a Democrat, and William B. Saxbe a Republican, voted with the majority Wednesday as the Senate approved, 58-37, the amendment of Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., to raise the personal income tax exemption from $600 to $800.

taken during the recent break-in of the school.

Other guests were Rev. John Glick of the Village Methodist Church, Rev. John Currens of the Zion Methodist Church and Mr. A. Ray Plum.

At the November 25 meeting the members were entertained by a woodwind quintet from Teays Valley High School. Members of the group were Roger Hott, Sandy Scothorn, Judy Rife, Karen Peters and Linda Sanderson. They were accompanied by Drexel Poling, band director.

Also on the program was Mr. Leonard Reed from Kingston, Jamaica who is in this country studying 4-H Clubs. He gave a few brief remarks about his own country.

Members were reminded that the week of Dec. 2 would be the sale of ads for the annual newspaper.

Dear Abby: Should 'His Honor' Wear A Brassiere?

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I'm sure you get a lot of letters from kooks, and this one will probably go into that pile, but believe me, this inquiry is sincere.

My husband is a large man and noticeably overweight. He is particularly flabby in the region of his chest. To get to the point, Abby, he could use a brassiere!

Is there a place where they sell brassieres for men? I am not going to mention this to him until I can find one. He is aware of his problem, Abby. He's not an unreasonable man and I think if I brought one home he might wear it. Please don't use my name or town as my husband is the mayor. Thank you.

MRS. BLANK FROM BLANK: DEAR MRS. BLANK: Sorry, but I'm blue in the face from looking in the yellow pages, and I can't find a shop which sells ladies' lingerie for gentlemen. But a large brassiere in a women's shop, and if "His Honor" doesn't have a "fit," alter it to fit him.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for 22 years to a woman who is 43 and here is my problem. Three years ago she had all her teeth removed and was fitted with dentures. She wore them home from the dentist's office and promptly removed them, and placed them in the medicine cabinet where they have been ever since.

She refuses to wear her dentures, and she won't go back to the dentist who made them although he has said that he would MAKE them fit. She is a pretty woman and would look 20 years younger if she would put her teeth in.

She says she doesn't care how she looks. I have begged and pleaded with her, and even threatened to refuse to be seen with her until she puts her teeth in, but still no results. Can you help me?

L IN IDAHO

DEAR L: If she refuses to go back to the dentist who made them, insist that she see her physician for a thorough check-up (mental and physical). Her trouble could be higher up. Three years is a long time for a pretty 43-year-old woman to remain toothless.

DEAR ABBY: I am 19 and Rusty is 25. We've gone together for a year and plan to marry in a couple of years when we can afford it. I have a good job and so does Rusty. He is on the road four nights a week.

Two girl friends and I are planning to move into an apartment the first of next month. We've found an ideal place in a good neighborhood near where we all work.

My problem is that Rusty is dead set against it. He says if I move from my parents' home before we are married, we are finished. Abby, I want experience in budgeting, cooking, housekeeping and many domestic things I could never learn any other way. Even my parents are all for it. What should I do?

Why is Rusty so stubborn? He knows he can be 100 per cent sure of me.

RUSTY'S GIRL: DEAR GIRL: Rusty may be 100 per cent sure of YOU—but he's not sure of himself. Move into the apartment. If you and Rusty are finished for this reason, you're better off without him.

Haynsworth Will Remain Chief Judge

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon announced Thursday that Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. will continue to serve as chief judge of the Fourth U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

With Haynsworth standing at his side, Nixon went before newsmen at the White House to describe his rejected nominee for the Supreme Court as a victim of "brutally vicious" attacks. In the face of these, the President said, the judge might well have considered stepping down from the circuit bench.

"A weak man would," said Nixon. "A fearful man would. The judge is not a weak man." Nixon said he was delighted by Haynsworth's decision and cited what he described as his own philosophy that an individual is never without defeat somewhere along the line but he should never be fearful.

Stepping to the microphone, Haynsworth acknowledged that "no one likes to lose."

But he said he had been greatly encouraged, since the 55-45 Senate vote against his nomination on Nov. 21, by thousands of letters.

Haynsworth said he has learned that the judges of the Fourth Circuit want him to remain the chief judgeship and that the bar "wants me back."

Turning to Nixon, Haynsworth said: "I am very grateful to you for your steadfast support."

Nixon began by reminding newsmen that he had telephoned Haynsworth, immediately after the Senate vote, to urge that he remain on the circuit bench.

At that time Haynsworth said he wanted a couple of weeks in which to contemplate whether the Senate battle over his nomination would impair his ability to continue as chief judge of the fourth circuit.

Elect New Commission Officials

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio County Commissioners Association rejected by a 53 - 26 vote Wednesday a move aimed at increasing sales tax revenues to local governments.

A resolution presented by Mahoning County commissioners would have asked the legislature to call a statewide referendum to give local governments 20 per cent of all sales taxes collected by the state.

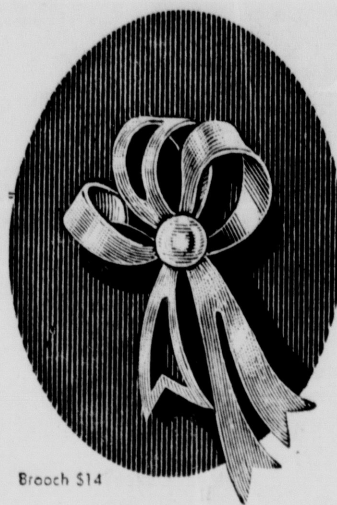

The 20 per cent figure would have provided about $120 million to local governments. Backers of the proposal said local governments need the money to pay for services the legislature has required they provide.

In other business, the association elected Sandusky County Commissioner Lowell M. Henry as president, succeeding Laurence Dumford of Fayette County. Richard Thompson of Allen County was elected first vice president.

The Ohio County Engineers Association, meeting here in conjunction with the commissioners, elected Harold E. Remsburg of Hardin County as president, succeeding James B. Roberts of Richland County. Stanley E. Markey of Warren County was named first vice president.

Give the most accurate watch in the world.

What accounts for this extraordinary accuracy? Instead of the usual wheels and springs, Accutron has a tiny, electronically-driven tuning fork whose vibrations split each second into 360 precise little intervals. Ordinary watches have balance wheels. The balance wheel splits the second, too, into 5 or 10 intervals. And not so precisely. That's why balance wheel watches can't compete with tuning fork time.

Ashville News Report

Mrs. John Sabine — 983-2086

Sp. 5 Benjamin J. Vause is spending a 21-day leave with his parents and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Vause and Lucy Ann. After his visit he will report to Oakland, Calif. for his next assignment.

Ernestine Craig was one of the guests on Thanksgiving Day at the Peter McQuain home on Glenn Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Ewing Cole and sons spent the Thanksgiving holiday with Mrs. Cole's mother, Mrs. B. C. Duvall. The Coles are residents of Montgomery, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Courtright and family have moved from their home on Walnut Street to the D. P. Courtright farm west of Ashville.

Mary Ann Miller, daughter of Mrs. Mary Helen Miller, celebrated her 21st birthday on November 21. This date she shares with Prince Charles of England who also became 21. Mary Ann sent him birthday greetings and a note and in return she received a letter from the Prince.

Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Morrison and Jay, Mrs. Winnie Morrison and Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Griesheimer, Bobby and Richard Jay of Bellbrook were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Griesheimer of Chillicothe. The dinner was held in honor of Mr. Frank Griesheimer on his birthday.

Mrs. Hattie Rife was the Thanksgiving Day guest in the home of Mrs. Gertrude Johnson.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cook and Maria on Thursday were Mrs. Maggie Reid, Mr. and Mrs. George Mowery, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Cook and Stephen, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Welsh, Stevie, Russell, Paula, Treva and Kevin, Mr. and Mrs. William Brady, Mr. and Mrs. James Tussing, Jimmy and Brad.

Wednesday dinner guests of Mrs. William Miller, Candy, Mary Ann and Mr. Robert Dennis were Mr. and Mrs. James Imbody and Dorothy Imbody of Marion. The Imbodies were former residents of Ashville while Mr. Imbody was stationed at Lockbourne Air Force Base.

The Past Chiefs Club of the Pythian Sisters held their annual Christmas Party in the home of Mona Morrison on Monday evening. A carry-in dinner was served at 6:30 p.m., with a gift exchange following.

The president, Arlene Fortner, presided during the business meeting. The minutes of the previous meeting and the treasurer's report were given by Madge Baum.

A donation was given to the Pythian Sisters toward the remodeling of the kitchen in the K of P Hall. A monetary gift was sent to the Springfield Pythian Home for Christmas.

Those present signed a card to be sent to Clarence Rush. Members were reminded of the pie sale the Sisters will have Saturday morning at Boyd's Leathergoods Store.

Following the meeting games were played and prizes awarded.

Those attending were Winnie Morrison, Hattie Rife, Florence Wharton, Clara Rihl, Mildred Messick, Georgia Hoover, Edith Hudson, Mae Borror, Francie Peters, Madge Baum, Charlotte Rife, Mary Helen Miller, Dorothy Cook, Fern Lutz, Coral Sherman, Marilyn Sabine, Mona Morrison, Arlene Fortner, Candy Miller, May Ann Miller and guests Connie and Charlie

Dean Morrison, Carol, Brad and Brent Sherman.

Mrs. Carl Dennis (Marilyn) is in the Orland, Fla., General Hospital, 7227 Lake Underhill Drive, 32807. She is undergoing observation and treatment.

The Christian Women's Circle of the Zion United Methodist Church will have their annual Christmas potluck dinner 6:30 p. m. Thurs., Dec. 11. All families of the church are invited. A short program will be presented by the junior choir.

Thanksgiving Day guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hartley and family were Mrs. Maxine Beckett, Mrs. Ruth Hartley, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hartley and Carrie, Mr. and Mrs. Chet Fortner and Mrs. Braskett.

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Seyfang, Jimmie and Barbara were Mr. and Mrs. Escar Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Aldenderfer, Doug, John, Kim and Paul, Mrs. Jean Weigand and Neil, Mr. and Mrs. James Hickman, Mrs. Etta Miller, Richard Miller, Ann Marie, Robert and Deanna, Mrs. William R. Miller, Candy and Mary Ann, Retta Melvin and Robert Bland.

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Schiff, Mike and David on Thursday were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hancher, Sr., Lou McPherson, Agnes Williams, Mrs. Beatrice Schiff, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hancher, Jr. and Natalie and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hedges and Lori.

Members of the Teays Valley High School football team, their fathers and coaches were the honored guests at the November 18 meeting of the Ashville Kiwanis Club. The dinner meeting was held in the high school cafeteria.

The speaker of the evening was the Rev. Fred Ketner who gave a very inspirational talk on "Don't Miss the Cuspider". The program was planned by Don Forquer.

Mr. Charles Thomas of the Industrial Arts Department of the high school was the guest of the president, Everett Beers. Mr. Thomas was given a letter of commendation for the assistance given by his department to the school and sheriff in recovering articles

McCormack In Trouble

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bitter struggle over antipoverty legislation has widened the split between Speaker John W. McCormack and liberal House Democrats.

Over McCormack's strenuous objections, liberals Wednesday forced postponement of the controversial antipoverty bill moments before it was due to be called up.

The almost unprecedented action was designed to give backers of the bill, which would continue the present antipoverty program with only minor changes, more time to line up support.

Otherwise they feared defeat at the hands of a Republican-southern Democrat coalition backing an alternate proposal to shift major responsibility for the antipoverty effort from the federal government to the states.

McCormack, under pressure to wind up the current House session by Dec. 20, refused at first to consider demands for a delay. But he was forced to yield during a stormy meeting in his office Wednesday morning.

Saxbe, Young Agree

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ohio Sens. Stephen M. Young, a Democrat, and William B. Saxbe, a Republican, voted with the majority Wednesday as the Senate approved, 58-37, the amendment of Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., to raise the personal income tax exemption from $600 to $800.

taken during the recent break-in of the school.

Other guests were Rev. John Glick of the Village Methodist Church, Rev. John Currens of the Zion Methodist Church and Mr. A. Ray Plum.

At the November 25 meeting the members were entertained by a woodwind quintet from Teays Valley High School. Members of the group were Roger Hott, Sandy Sothorn, Judy Rife, Karen Peters and Linda Sanderson. They were accompanied by Drexel Poling, band director.

Also on the program was Mr. Leonard Reed from Kingston, Jamaica who is in this country studying 4-H Clubs. He gave a few brief remarks about his own country.

Members were reminded that the week of Dec. 2 would be the sale of ads for the annual newspaper.

Dear Abby: Should 'His Honor' Wear A Brassiere?

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I'm sure you get a lot of letters from kooks, and this one will probably go into that pile, but believe me, this inquiry is sincere.

My husband is a large man and noticeably overweight. He is particularly flabby in the region of his chest. To get to the point, Abby, he could use a brassiere!

Is there a place where they sell brassieres for men? I am not going to mention this to him until I can find one. He is aware of his problem, Abby. He's not an unreasonable man and I think if I brought one home he might wear it. Please don't use my name or town as my husband is the mayor. Thank you.

MRS. BLANK FROM BLANK DEAR MRS. BLANK: Sorry, but I'm blue in the face from looking in the yellow pages, and I can't find a shop which sells ladies' lingerie for gentlemen. But a large brassiere in a women's shop, and if "His Honor" doesn't have a "fit," alter it to fit him.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for 22 years to a woman who is 43 and here is my problem. Three years ago she had all her teeth removed and was fitted with dentures. She wore them home from the dentist's office and promptly removed them, and placed them in the medicine cabinet where they have been ever since.

She refuses to wear her dentures, and she won't go back to the dentist who made them although he has said that he would MAKE them fit. She is a pretty woman and would look 20 years younger if she would put her teeth in.

She says she doesn't care how she looks. I have begged and pleaded with her, and even threatened to refuse to be seen with her until she puts her teeth in, but still no results. Can you help me?

L IN IDAHO

DEAR L: If she refuses to go back to the dentist who made them, insist that she see her physician for a thorough check-up (mental and physical). Her trouble could be higher up. Three years is a long time for a pretty 43-year-old woman to remain toothless.

DEAR ABBY: I am 19 and Rusty is 25. We've gone together for a year and plan to marry in a couple of years when we can afford it. I have a good job and so does Rusty. He is on the road four nights a week.

Two girl friends and I are planning to move into an apartment the first of next month. We've found an ideal place in a good neighborhood near where we all work.

My problem is that Rusty is dead set against it. He says if I move from my parents' home before we are married, we are finished. Abby, I want experience in budgeting, cooking, housekeeping and many domestic things I could never learn any other way. Even my parents are all for it. What should I do?

Why is Rusty so stubborn? He knows he can be 100 per cent sure of me.

RUSTY'S GIRL

DEAR GIRL: Rusty may be 100 per cent sure of YOU—but he's not sure of himself. Move into the apartment. If you and Rusty are finished for this reason, you're better off without him.

Haynsworth Will Remain Chief Judge

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon announced Thursday that Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. will continue to serve as chief judge of the Fourth U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

With Haynsworth standing at his side, Nixon went before newsmen at the White House to describe his rejected nominee for the Supreme Court as a victim of "brutally vicious" attacks. In the face of these, the President said, the judge might well have considered stepping down from the circuit bench.

"A weak man would," said Nixon. "A fearful man would. The judge is not a weak man." Nixon said he was delighted by Haynsworth's decision and cited what he described as his own philosophy that an individual is never without defeat somewhere along the line but he should never be fearful.

Stepping to the microphone, Haynsworth acknowledged that "no one likes to lose."

But he said he had been greatly encouraged, since the 55-45 Senate vote against his nomination on Nov. 21, by thousands of letters.

Haynsworth said he has learned that the judges of the Fourth Circuit want him to retain the chief judgeship and that the bar "wants me back."

Turning to Nixon, Haynsworth said: "I am very grateful to you for your steadfast support."

Nixon began by reminding newsmen that he had telephoned Haynsworth, immediately after the Senate vote, to urge that he remain on the circuit bench.

At that time Haynsworth said he wanted a couple of weeks in which to contemplate whether the Senate battle over his nomination would impair his ability to continue as chief judge of the fourth circuit.

Santa and the DUMBBELL

By Lucrece Beale

By LUCRECE BEALE
Synopsis: Booby Bobby tries to mail a letter to Santa asking for a friend for Christmas. Stanley the Ghost appears and says he wants a new place to haunt. They decide to take their requests to Santa.

CHAPTER FOUR THE PUPPET PRINCESS

"I DON'T want to hurt your feelings," Stanley the Ghost said to Booby Bobby. "But I am tired of haunting houses like yours."

"My mother says it is a good house," said Booby Bobby. "It's warm and compact and easy to clean."

"That's the trouble with houses nowadays," complained Stanley. "They have no attics. No nooks and crannies. Stairs are carpeted so boards don't creak. Doors don't even have keyholes anymore! How can I be a proper ghost in such a place?"

"Maybe Santa will let you be a haunt in Santa Land!"

"I shall ask him," said Stanley. "But I must get some sleep now. All this talking has exhausted me."

With that he collapsed in a heap in the middle of the rug. Booby Bobby was too excited to sleep. He dressed in his boots and coat and lay down to wait for Stanley. Suddenly it was morning and his mother was in the room exclaiming, "My gracious! Why are you sleeping in all your clothes? And what on earth is this dirty old sheet doing here? You get up while I put this in the machine with the rest of the wash."

Booby Bobby leaped up shouting, "Don't do it, mother! It's not a sheet. It's Stanley. He's a Ghost!"

"Tch, tch," said his mother in exasperation. "Will you never make sense?"

She bundled up Stanley and marched to the laundry room and flung him into the whirling washing machine with the rest of the wash.

"Now you hush up," she said sternly to Booby Bobby who was wailing and wringing his hands. "I'm going next door to borrow milk for breakfast."

As soon as she left, Booby Bobby opened the machine and pulled out the Ghost. Stanley was dripping and dizzy and blinded with soap. "That's what I mean about your modern houses!" he snarled. "It's no place for a ghost!"

Booby Bobby offered to put him in the dryer but Stanley said he wouldn't stay in that house another minute. He shook himself like a dog who has fallen in a pond, and stalked out the back door.

They strode boldly through town.

"How do we get to Santa Land?" asked Booby Bobby, running to catch up.

"Just keep going until we get there," said Stanley gruffly. "But we will have to look sharp or some other housewife may want to hang me on a line to dry."

"We can pretend you're a boy still wearing his Halloween costume," said Booby Bobby.

"A sensible idea," agreed Stanley.

He strode along boldly as if it were the natural thing to do and no one they passed thought it strange at all to see a ghost walking through the town.

They traveled until they came to a small village where a puppet show was being given in the square. They sat down to rest a while and watch the show. It was very sad.

A beautiful Puppet Princess was captured by a wicked ogre who swore to keep her a prisoner forever unless she agreed to become his bride. The princess was kept in a dungeon and fed nothing but butterfly wings and soybean shells but she refused to give her consent. The ogre grew impatient and said, "Tomorrow you will be my bride or die." And the curtain came down on the second act.

Booby Bobby jumped from his seat and cried, "This is terrible! We've got to save her!"

Booby Bobby offered to put him in the dryer but Stanley said he wouldn't stay in that house another minute. He shook himself like a dog who has fallen in a pond, and stalked out the back door.

They strode boldly through town.

"How do we get to Santa Land?" asked Booby Bobby, running to catch up.

"Just keep going until we get there," said Stanley gruffly. "But we will have to look sharp or some other housewife may want to hang me on a line to dry."

"We can pretend you're a boy still wearing his Halloween costume," said Booby Bobby.

"A sensible idea," agreed Stanley.

He strode along boldly as if it were the natural thing to do and no one they passed thought it strange at all to see a ghost walking through the town.

They traveled until they came to a small village where a puppet show was being given in the square. They sat down to rest a while and watch the show. It was very sad.

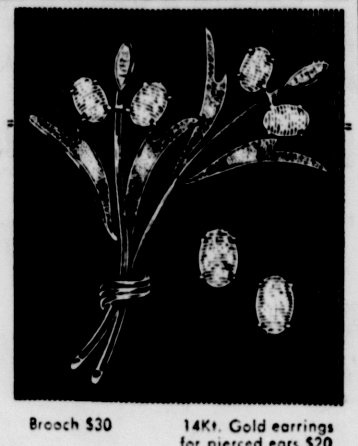

A beautiful Puppet Princess was captured by a wicked ogre who swore to keep her a prisoner forever unless she agreed to become his bride. The princess was kept in a dungeon and fed nothing but butterfly wings and soybean shells but she refused to give her consent. The ogre grew impatient and said, "Tomorrow you will be my bride or die." And the curtain came down on the second act.

Booby Bobby jumped from his seat and cried, "This is terrible! We've got to save her!"

Sen. Holcomb Plans To Run For Treasurer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Sen. David S. Holcomb, 45, Dayton, Thursday announced as Republican candidate for treasurer in the May 5, 1970 primary.

Holcomb is currently midway through his second term as senator from the 6th District.

He is a customer service supervisor for the McCall Corp.

Holcomb became the first announced Republican candidate for treasurer although a fellow Republican State Sen. Robin Turner R-14 Marion has indicated an interest in the job.

Dennis E. Thompson of Columbus has announced as a candidate for Democratic nomination for treasurer and Mrs. Gertrude Donahay of Columbus has taken out petition papers to run as a Democrat for the office.

NEW YORK (AP) — With all the criticism of television violence, it is surprising there hasn't been more complaints about the way it murders the English language. What's more, the damage usually is premeditated.

Most of the slaughter is done in the interests of comedy or establishing character. While Marshall Dillon and Daniel Boone, two hero types with big audiences of children, are seldom guilty of anything more serious than g-dropping, their comical sidekicks really assault the mother tongue.

Festus of "Gunsmoke" produces a tortured brand of English that in addition to being largely ungrammatical is often almost impossible to understand. Jimmy Dean in Thursday night's "Daniel Boone" was sprinkling "aint" liberally through his sentences and usually used "done" when he meant "did," as in "hedoneit."

Jim Nabors does some strange things to the language when he drops into his "Gomer Pyle" accents. In the comedy sketch of his variety hour Thursday night he kept calling a window a "win-der" and generally putting the letter r where none exists.

Constant exposure to sloppy speech probably can't really hurt young viewers, or interfere with their development. But it does set a bad example and, most of the time, isn't necessary.

NBC has stoutly maintained that it couldn't be done, but now says it has found a way to reduce some of the frequent, annoying commercial breaks on the Johnny Carson Show. For one thing, after Jan. 1, the show will start with a Carson monologue, not, as now, a sales pitch.

CBS and NBC have managed another collision of specials. On Saturday night, NBC has a 90-minute "Hall of Fame" special, "The Littlest Angel" starting at 7:30 EST. Ann-Margret's special, "From Hollywood, With Love," arrives on CBS at 8:30.

The second Ann-Margret special has a very busy star who sings and dances her way through the hour—along freeways, on movie sets, in open fields, on the deck of a ship.

The program does not work as well as her first special last season, probably because everybody was trying too hard to top it. The most interesting segments were the shots on location. Most disappointing was a long comedy sketch with Dean Martin which was neither funny nor smoothly played.

Lucille Ball and Ann-Margret, dressed in fright wigs, sang a bright and amusing novelty song about autograph hunters.

• The hour is certainly worth a look—if only to catch a glimpse of the star's good-looking clothes. She changed costumes a lot.

Hunger Panel Sees Food Emergency

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's White House hunger conference has told him in effect what has been done for the nation's hungry is not enough and what should be done should be done now.

The 3,000 delegates from all walks of life shouted acceptance of a statement calling on Nixon to declare a national hunger emergency, the government to guarantee an annual income floor of $5,500 and free lunch and breakfast programs for poor children.

A delegation of six participants planned to meet with the President today to stress the concern of the conference.

"There is a hunger and malnutrition emergency in this country today," the conference statement said Thursday.

"Therefore, the President must immediately declare that a national hunger emergency exists, and under existing authority must now free funds and implement programs to feed all hungry Americans this winter," the statement said.

As an interim measure only all present food programs should be reformed and expanded, said the statement. This will be part of hundreds of recommendations to the President on virtually every conceivable aspect of food, nutrition and health.

The statement also cited what many anti-hunger crusaders consider congressional obstruction. All food programs should be switched from the Agriculture Department to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare with corresponding shifts in congressional committee responsibilities, it said.

5 OSU Finalists For School Queen

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State University's centennial committee has selected five finalists for queen of the school's 100th anniversary observance next year.

The finalists, one of whom will be named queen on Jan. 10, are Melany Stinson of Clarksburg, Christina Lee McClain and Joanne Harris, both of Rocky Audrey Denise Havriliak of Pas-siac, N.J., and Jan Cleary of Cincinnati.

The President's conference chairman, Dr. Jean Mayer, said there was "an escalation of concern for the poor" at the conference, and "I am perfectly satisfied with the results."

Before the conference closed, Mayer said the President had decided to give priority to establishing food stamps in 307 U.S. counties without them and upping the allowable purchasing power of food stamps from the current $65 to $106 a month for a family of four.

Caucuses of blacks, Puerto Ricans, Appalachian whites, Indians and Mexican-Americans said the Presidents' action was not enough, that free food stamps should be given to all the poor immediately. They doubted the President had existing legal power to expand food stamps and said the Agriculture Department already announced the increased allowance.

At the close of the general conference session a poor group coalition said the conference remained in order and would do so until the President made free food stamps available.

But the delegates left the coalition with a group of some 20 people milling in the lobby of the conference hotel.

In a windup speech, Sen. Walter Mondale, D-Minn., told the delegates "We have flattered the hungry with everything except food."

"Surely if we can respond to victims of hurricanes, we can respond to the victims of hunger," the senator said.

USS Chemicals Opens New Plant Along Ohio River

Strengthening its position as one of the country's leading diversified materials suppliers, United States Steel Corporation today announced the start-up of its new synthetic phenol and acetone plant at the USS Chemicals complex at Haverhill along the Ohio River.

The Molded Plastics Products Plant, USS Chemicals, located in Circleville is a division of the U.S. Steel Corporation.

Under construction for the past 18 months, the new facility is capable of producing over 200 million pounds of phenol and over 120 million pounds of acetone annually. Phenol and acetone are basic ingredients for a host of products, including adhesives, resins, synthetic fibers and pharmaceuticals.

"The new plant makes USS Chemicals a leading merchant producer of synthetic phenol through the cume process," according to W. K. Menke, president of USS Chemicals, a division of U.S. Steel.

Phenol, he pointed out, is not a new product with USS Chemicals. "U.S. Steel has been a producer of tar acids from coal tar, including phenols, cresols, cresylics and xylenols for more than thirty years. The new plant, however, is our first to produce phenols synthetically," he added.

Acetone, a product produced simultaneously with phenol through the single-train cume process which USS Chemicals is using, is a new product with the chemicals division.

C. L. "Tex" Parris, manager of the Haverhill plant, revealed some of the highlights of the new facility. "Included," he pointed out, "are the main process unit, a complete steam generation plant, cooling tower, tank storage farm, a maintenance building and facilities for product shipment by railroad tank car and tank truck. Also included is a new river dock for barge shipments."

"In addition," he said, "we have installed waste treatment facilities which include a mile-deep well drilled at the site where, under pressure, all phenol process wastes from the new phenol - acetone plant will be deposited. This well meets the State of Ohio's water quality control requirements."

Menke pointed out that synthetic phenol and acetone are two new additions to the broad spectrum of major chemicals which U.S. Steel is supplying to industry.

The phenol - acetone plant was built for USS Chemicals by the M. W. Kellogg Company, a division of Pullman, Incorporated. The single-train cume process is licensed from the Hercules Corporation.

Policeman Says Payoffs Were 'Gifts'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Columbus policeman admitted in federal court Wednesday that he received several sums of money from gamblers, but contended they were just "gifts."

"I've never taken a payoff in my life," insisted Sgt. Melvin Helmandollar.

Helmandollar spent the entire day on the stand in the gambling conspiracy trial of eight policemen and numbers racket king Frank Baldasarro.

Named as co-conspirator but not a defendant in the case, Helmandollar testified under protection of immunity from future prosecution.

The 14-year police veteran denied repeatedly that $25 and $50 donations he received from Baldasarro and other reputed numbers operators were anything but gifts. He said he didn't know why he was given the money.

Helmandollar said he also received money from police Lt. William Voorhis and Patrolman Robert Brodt, both defendants, and retired Sgt. Wilbur Stevens, named a co-conspirator.

The nine defendants are accused of conspiring in a police-protected numbers game operation.

Urge Repeal Of Detention Camps Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a move to allay fears of antiwar demonstrators, the Nixon administration is calling for repeal of a 1950 law that authorizes the use of detention camps during times of "internal security emergency."

Deputy Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst said Wednesday the law had stirred up "fears and suspicions—unfounded as they may be—that it might be invoked against Vietnam war protesters and other demonstrators."

He noted the statute has long been repugnant to Japanese-Americans, some of whom were detained during World War II.

Kleindienst put the Justice Department behind repeal of the measure in a letter to Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee. It is considering a repeal measure by Sen. Daniel K. Inouye, D-Hawaii.

Kleindienst also officially denied a statement attributed to him months ago that demonstrators who interfere with other citizens "should be rounded up and put in a detention camp."

He said he was misquoted by Atlantic Magazine.

Inouye's bill would knock out the emergency detention section of the 1950 Internal Security Act, enacted during the period when the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy, R-Wis., made headlines with his attacks on alleged subversives in government.

USS Chemicals Opens New Plant Along Ohio River

Strengthening its position as one of the country's leading diversified materials suppliers, United States Steel Corporation today announced the start-up of its new synthetic phenol and acetone plant at the USS Chemicals complex at Haverhill along the Ohio River.

The Molded Plastics Products Plant, USS Chemicals, located in Circleville is a division of the U.S. Steel Corporation.

Under construction for the past 18 months, the new facility is capable of producing over 200 million pounds of phenol and over 120 million pounds of acetone annually. Phenol and acetone are basic ingredients for a host of products, including adhesives, resins, synthetic fibers and pharmaceuticals.

"The new plant makes USS Chemicals a leading merchant producer of synthetic phenol through the cume process," according to W. K. Menke, president of USS Chemicals, a division of U.S. Steel.

Phenol, he pointed out, is not a new product with USS Chemicals. "U.S. Steel has been a producer of tar acids from coal tar, including phenols, cresols, cresylics and xylenols for more than thirty years. The new plant, however, is our first to produce phenols syn- thetically," he added.

Acetone, a product produced simultaneously with phenol through the single-train cume process which USS Chemicals is using, is a new product with the chemicals division.

C. L. "Tex" Parris, manager of the Haverhill plant, revealed some of the highlights of the new facility. "Included," he pointed out, "are the main process unit, a complete steam generation plant, cooling tower, tank storage farm, a main- tenance building and facilities for product shipment by railroad tank car and tank truck. Also included is a new river dock for barge shipments. "In addition," he said, "we have installed waste treatment facilities which include a mile- deep well drilled at the site where, under pressure, all phenol process wastes from the new phenol-acetone plant will be deposited. This well meets the State of Ohio's water quality control requirements."

Menke pointed out that synthetic phenol and acetone are two new additions to the broad spectrum of major chemicals which U.S. Steel is supplying to industry.

The phenol-acetone plant was built for USS Chemicals by the M. W. Kellogg Company, a division of Pullman, In- corporated. The single-train cume process is licensed from the Hercules Corporation.

Policeman Says Payoffs Were 'Gifts'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Columbus policeman admitted in federal court Wednesday that he received several sums of money from gamblers, but contended they were just "gifts."

"I've never taken a payoff in my life," insisted Sgt. Melvin Helmandollar.

Helmandollar spent the entire day on the stand in the gambling conspiracy trial of eight police- men and numbers racket king Frank Baldasarro.

Named as co-conspirator but not a defendant in the case, Helmandollar testified under protection of immunity from future prosecution.

The 14-year police veteran denied repeatedly that $25 and $50 donations he received from Baldasarro and other reputed numbers operators were anything but gifts. He said he didn't know why he was given the money.

Helmandollar said he also received money from police Lt. William Voorhis and Patrolman Robert Brodt, both defendants, and retired Sgt. Wilbur Stevens, named a co-conspirator.

The nine defendants are ac- cused of conspiring in a police-protected numbers game opera- tion.

How The Weather Looks

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary for Ohio:

Light snow flurries still were reported early this morning in northeast Ohio but were expected to cease altogether by this afternoon.

Cloudiness will be increasing Saturday. Precipitation, however, probably will hold off until Saturday night or Sunday.

High temperatures Thursday ranged from 26 at Youngstown to 36 at Dayton of the regular reporting stations. Youngstown and the Canton-Akron Airport were the only ones reporting measurable precipitation Thursday and overnight. Youngstown had .10 inch in the 24-hour period ending at 1 a.m. this morning and Canton-Akron 1.02. Snow from three to six inches, blanketed much of northern Summit and Northern Portage counties as well as Geauga and portions of eastern Cuyahoga county with lighter amounts northward to lake Erie. Twelve inches was reported at Middlefield in Geauga County.

—FORECASTS—

OHIO — Increasing cloudiness and a little warmer southwest and fair and cold northeast to night. Lows in the low 20s north and low 30s southwest. Mostly cloudy and a little warmer Saturday.

OHIO — Increasing cloudiness tonight. Lows in the mid to upper 20s. Mostly cloudy and a little warmer Saturday. Highs in the 40s. Outlook Sunday: Rain and warmer.

SOUTHWEST & SOUTHEAST OHIO — Increasing cloudiness and a little warmer tonight. Low in the 20s and low 30s. Mostly cloudy and a little warmer Saturday. Highs in the 40s and low 50s. Outlook Sunday: Rain and warmer.

OHIO FIVE-DAY FORECAST

Temperatures will average above normal Saturday through Wednesday. Highs will be in the 40s and lows in the upper 20s and 30s. Mild over the weekend, then turning cooler early next week. Showers this weekend and snow flurries north about Tuesday or Wednesday will total .5 to .75 inch melted.

Woman Church Council Head Wants An 'Open' Dialogue

DETROIT (AP) — Cynthia Wedel first woman elected president of the National Council of Churches, says, "My hopes and plans are only to be as open as possible to ideas and people."

Mrs. Wedel, 61, an Episcopalian, said she could not plan beyond this because "we don't know what new crisis will arise tomorrow or next week."

The blue-eyed, brown-haired psychologist was elected Thursday to head the 20-year-old organization which represents 33 Protestant and Orthodox denominations with 42 million members.

She won 387 to 93 over the Rev. Dr. Albert Cleage, a Negro and pastor of Detroit's Church of the Black Madonna.

Mrs. Wedel is the wife of a noted theologian, the Rev. Dr. Theodore O. Wedel. They live in Alexandria, Va., where she is associate director of a psychological research institute, the Center for Volunteerism of the National Institute of Applied Behavioral Sciences.

She is a long-time ecumenical leader, both in the National and World councils of churches, serving in their assemblies in this country and abroad. Mrs. Wedel also has served as a National Council vice president and has been a member of various presidential commissions including one on the status of women appointed by President John F. Kennedy.

Mrs. Wedel said her policy of openness applies particularly to "the young, the blacks, the poor, the oppressed."

"Our old ways of doing things are not adequate. There must be big changes, and they must be made faster than we think possible," she said.

Benton, Ky., has used the traditional opening day of county court as an excuse for a festival since 1843 — now known as Tater Day, from the original practice of bartering sweet potatoes.

"I'm quite sure that God, along with the young, the blacks, and the others, cares very little for our traditions, our accustomed procedures."

She suggested that perhaps there should be special pressure groups serving as constant prods to the council—a youth caucus, a woman's caucus, an Indian caucus, a Spanish American caucus, a laymen's caucus.

Although she allied herself here with women pressing for more woman power in church establishments, she said she was not personally militant about the issues "because I was always one of the few lucky women who happened to be in positions of some power."

But she said she understands "how frustrating it is for many women" seeking consideration on a basis of ability rather than sex.

Feller Writes Bad Checks

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — An attorney for former Cleveland Indians' pitcher Bob Feller said Thursday that Feller was attempting to make restitution for $959 in bad checks allegedly written to a drug store.

Attorney Harry A. Hanna said Feller tried to repay the store last month but his check was not accepted.

Assistant Cuyahoga County Prosecutor Joseph F. Donahue said the prosecutor's office was investigating the checks.

The checks reportedly were written between Oct. 4 and Oct. 17 for money orders from Jay Drug Store in suburban Mayfield. Nine were reportedly written on a closed account in a Texas bank and the other on a closed account in Cleveland.

Feller, a 51-year-old baseball Hall of Fame member who once made $80,000 a year with the Indians, now heads an insurance firm and lives in suburban Gates Mills.

Neighbors Help Ruined Farmer

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP) — Last July, Hugh Rowland, a Negro farmer, lost everything he owned—his farm house, two other buildings and 20 head of livestock—in a fire three miles north of here.

Thursday a moving company brought a house from St. Joseph that had been donated by Clarence Miller, a white man, and set it on Rowland's farm. Rowland's white neighbors have offered to bring furniture and other furnishings.

Rowland, who says he has "the best neighbors in the world," added, "This is the way the Lord intended that the races should treat each other."

Julian Bond Talks On Violent Protest

OBERLIN, Ohio (AP)—Julian Bond, a member of the Georgia House of Representatives, told some 1,800 students at an Oberlin College assembly Thursday that violent protest "is rooted in the Constitution."

The 29-year-old Negro, who was a candidate for vice president at the 1968 Democratic National Convention, said that "when life becomes intolerable and government unresponsive, men don't have the right but the duty to rise up and strike it down."

Junior High Teacher New To Circleville

Mrs. Cheryl Stewart is a new teacher at Circleville Jr. High School. She resides in Kingston, with her husband, Dennis, who teaches bookkeeping and general business at Circleville High School.

Cheryl was graduated from Lorain High School near Cleveland, and she reports that she was in nearly every activity while in high school. She was graduated from Miami University and taught for one year in Hamilton, after which she came to Circleville.

CHERYL STEWART

Cheryl teaches Ohio history and civics at the Jr. High. When asked what she thought of teaching in Circleville she replied, "The school is pretty nice and most of the students are nice, too."

She hopes to go to Florida soon and would like to go to Hawaii.

Cheerleaders Interviewed By News Staff

Last Friday's Red and Black edition should have included interviews with Debbie Lowe, Beth Smith, and Jodi Steele, varsity cheerleaders. Gremlins were apparently at work. Staff members thought all interviews had gone to the press, but along the way part of the articles disappeared. Our apologies.

Debbie Lowe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Lowe of 808 Maplewood, is mascot of the varsity cheerleaders. "Brownie," a senior, participates in SOS, GAA, and is vice president of Student Council. Sleeping, babysitting, writing, and painting fill her spare time. Debbie feels that CHS spirit is the "greatest ever." After graduation she plans to attend college and major in history.

Beth Smith, also a senior, lives at 501 N. Pickaway St., with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Smith. This is Beth's fourth year of cheerleading. Other activities include GAA, SOS, and Student Council. Beth hopes basketball receives a lot of support and thinks the spirit stick is effective. Her spare time is filled by sewing and "messing around." Beth's future plans are to attend college and major in elementary education.

Jodi Steele, a junior member of the squad, lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Steele, at 606 Plaza Drive. She has been cheerleading for five years, and is active as secretary of the Junior Class, treasurer of cheerleaders, and in SOS and GAA. "School spirit is a lot better than last year but it can still be improved. I feel that the spirit stick has helped." She also enjoys bowling, shopping, going to movies and eating.

Cheating Results In Little Help

By PAM CRABTREE
At one time in your life, if not already, the age old problem of cheating will come before you. This brings up the question, does cheating help?

In high school, students cheat and think they are getting away with something. Are they really? It may seem easy to copy a friend's math problems, but where are you when you are asked to explain how you got your answer? Testing time always brings out the cheaters.

Before you can realize it, college is ahead of you. All through high school, cheating has been your solution to all problems. Now is the time that you realize cheating is not easy without your friends to loan their answers. Did cheating really help?

Art Classes Rate Society Of Today

SOCIAL REFLECTIONS — Mirroring the varied activities of life today in space exploration, war, drugs and music is the display by the art classes at CHS. Contemplating society through boxes and squares, insides and outsides, students expressed their feelings about our changing world.

By DEBBIE MOORE
CHS display case to the right of the main lobby has been given a new look by art classes. During the past few weeks Art II and III classes have been using their imagination on different sized boxes to show an aspect of today's world.

Their subjects are varied, and include war, drugs, the space program and the music scene. Art II students worked with the outside of the boxes, using paint or pictures for a collage effect. Art III members, a more advanced class, explored the possibilities inside a box, using paint, pictures, suspended objects and lights.

Under the supervision of Judy Rose, art instructor, the classes have arranged their art work in the display case using silver mylar as a background. The title of the display is "Reflections of Our Society."

Homemaker Contest Held

By MARCIA PONTIUS
Approximately 30 Senior Home Economics students took the 1970 Betty Crocker Search for the American Homemaker test sponsored by General Mills last Tuesday. This program offers students an opportunity to earn scholarships of $500 to $5,000. The scholarship competition is based on a broad area of subjects related to homemaking.

The senior girl with the highest test score in Circleville High School will be named local Homemaker of Tomorrow. Her paper will then be entered in state-level judging. The highest ranking Homemaker of Tomorrow in Ohio will be awarded a $1,500 college scholarship. The second ranking girl in the state will receive a $500 scholarship.

From the 51 top scholarship winners — one from each state including the District of Columbia — one girl will be chosen All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow. She will be awarded a $5,000 scholarship and the three runners-up will earn scholarships of $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000 respectively.

'Senioritis' Has Variety Of Effects On CHS Students

By VICKI RALSTON and BETH SMITH

Pat Thomas — "Being a senior is one of the most confusing states of life: too many decisions to make, too many deadlines to meet and too many problems to try to solve."

Meg Ebert — "It scares me."

Liz Moon — "I am sad because I wish I could start all over again."

Bev May — "It is not what I expected it to be."

Vicki Schroeder — "Planning my future depresses me."

John Myers — "It means applying to colleges and having a lot of fun."

Debbie Lowe — "I am numb."

Gail Sprenger — "I think it is really great."

Dud Radcliff — "It is a lot harder than I expected."

Nancy Marshall — "It is not half as great as being a graduate."

Ray Williams — "I think it would be cool if one could be a senior all his life without the responsibilities of college or a job."

Beth Spire — "I feel more unsure about myself now than I did when I was a sophomore because now I have to make important decisions about my future."

Barb Carter — "For the first time, I realize I am still young."

Mark Frericks — "Being a senior means only 2,555 days until I graduate from law school."

Krista Clifton — "It is great being a member of the top class in the school. I am now looking forward to college and a new and different life."

Scott Withers — "It means coming to the end of my first phase in life, the next will not be as great as my days at CHS."

Mindy Wood — "Being a senior is great because you have a lot more freedom but it does not mean the end of school. College awaits!"

Dale Hukill — "It is really great!"

Jan Clifton — "It means no one can hassle you anymore, and you can quit working so hard."

Barb Reinscheld — "It feels good to know I will soon be out on my own."

Cindi Radcliff — "You have to set an example for the other classes."

Debbie Reed — "I think it is great but I am looking forward to college."

Warren Spangler — "It is a privilege."

Donna Smallwood — "I am glad it is my last year."

Pat Starkey — "I am sad because I do not want to graduate."

Terry Spencer — "Great!"

Connie Sark — "It is really fun."

Ethel Strawser — "It is up-setting but wonderful."

Rick Clark — "More freedom!"

News Briefs From Jr. High

By MIKE VAUGHAN and RICK WITHERS

CJHS played their first basketball game of the season Tuesday evening. The frosh topped Lancaster Stansbury, 34-30 at Stansbury and the seventh and eighth graders won their first tilt on the tiny Tiger's floor.

Junior High held their Thanksgiving Assembly Nov. 26. Rev. Eugene Flowers of the Good Shepherd United Methodist Church gave the message. A specially selected eighth and ninth grade Thanksgiving chorus, directed by Truman Eberly, provided the musical part of the assembly.

The Young Generation was the featured band at the first CJHS dance of the year Nov. 26. The dance was sponsored by the combined seventh, eighth and ninth grade GAA.

Freshmen wrestlers traveled to Brookpark Wednesday for their first meet of the season. The matmen have their first home battle Friday at 4:30 p.m. when the CJHS grapplers tangle with a tough Finland Junior High school squad.

Thomas' Predictions Give Westfall, Teays Valley Edge

By BILL THOMAS

Dreams of a perfect season went out the window last week but a 6-1 record isn't too bad so I'll hold my breath and pray.

Teays Valley over West Jefferson. This one rates a flip of the coin. Winner of this game will take a giant step toward the Metro League crown. Vikings will run into their toughest and tallest opposition this year but have already proven that they can beat the best. As always, dazzling Dale Lambert (who broke his scoring record for the third time this season in last week's 77-65 rout of Westfall) must be stopped, and if the Roughriders use anything less than handcuffs they could be in for a long night.

WCH over Circleville. Home court advantage should propel the Blue Lions over the hustling Tigers. Tiger-cats have lost two tough ones this year and should give WCH a run for their money. Circleville could wrap up their first league win if they stop the shooting combo of Steve Bowers and Steve Phillips, but hometown crowd will keep Blue Lion's emotions running high.

Westfall over Madison South. Mustangs are out for a win and South should accommodate them. The "B and B" boys (Greg Bigam and Bill Blair) should have a field day as the Mustangs win their second.

Circleville over Grandview. Scrappy Tiger Defense should throw a monkey wrench into the Bobcat Machine. Steve Mowery, 6'5" Grandview center, could pose a serious threat but hustle plus ability equals a Tiger win.

Elsewhere: Paint Valley over Westfall; Adena to beat Logan Elm; Teays Valley over Reynoldsburg.

One seldom makes the same mistake twice. Generally it is three times or more.

Always put off until tomorrow what you should not do at all.

Circleville School Menu

Monday: wiener on bun, baked beans, potato chips, apple sauce, milk.
Tuesday: beef and noodles, tossed salad, fruit jello, roll, butter, milk.
Wednesday: fish on bun-tartar sauce, green beans with corn, cake-pineapple topping, milk.
Thursday: hamburger gravy on biscuit, glazed sweet potatoes, celery, cookie, milk.
Friday: macaroni and cheese, creamed tomatoes, perfection salad, roll, butter, milk.
Dec. 15: hot pork sandwich, buttered spinach, apple crisp, milk.
Dec. 16: chili con carne, cole slaw, apricots, bread, butter, milk.
Dec. 17: beef stew, tossed salad, pineapple, French bread, butter, milk.
Dec. 18: Creamed turkey, mashed potatoes, buttered peas, fruit salad, cake, roll, butter, milk.
Dec. 19: fish on bun, tartar sauce, creamed rice, cherry cobbler, milk.

Wrestling Schedule Revisions Made

Changes have been made in the 1969-70 wrestling schedule for the Tiger grapplers. The Dec. 13 match will be held at Lancaster at 2:30 p.m. and the Jan. 17 meet will be a triangular meet with Wilmington and Miami Trace at 1 p.m. The Wilmington-SOL competition will be held Feb. 14.

The reserve team will hold two home meets this year. On Dec. 13 they will host the Wilmington reserves at 10 a.m. and Dec. 30, the Miami Trace team at 1 p.m. Tiger reserves will travel to Miami Trace for their final match at 4:30 p.m. Jan. 27.

Junior High Teacher New To Circleville

Homemaker Contest Held

Mrs. Cheryl Stewart is a new teacher at Circleville Jr. High School. She resides in Kingston, with her husband, Dennis, who teaches bookkeeping and general business at Circleville High School.

Cheryl was graduated from Lorain High School near Cleveland, and she reports that she was in nearly every activity while in high school. She was graduated from Miami University and taught for one year in Hamilton, after which she came to Circleville.

CHERYL STEWART

Cheryl teaches Ohio history and civics at the Jr. High. When asked what she thought of teaching in Circleville she replied, "The school is pretty nice and most of the students are nice, too."

She hopes to go to Florida soon and would like to go to Hawaii.

Cheerleaders Interviewed By News Staff

Last Friday's Red and Black edition should have included interviews with Debbie Lowe, Beth Smith, and Jodi Steele, varsity cheerleaders. Gremlins were apparently at work. Staff members thought all interviews had gone to the press, but along the way part of the articles disappeared. Our apologies.

Debbie Lowe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Lowe of 808 Maplewood, is mascot of the varsity cheerleaders. "Brownie," a senior, participates in SOS, GAA, and is vice president of Student Council. Sleeping, babysitting, writing, and painting fill her spare time. Debbie feels that CHS spirit is the "greatest ever." After graduation she plans to attend college and major in history.

Beth Smith, also a senior, lives at 501 N. Pickaway St., with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Smith. This is Beth's fourth year of cheerleading. Other activities include GAA, SOS, and Student Council. Beth hopes basketball receives a lot of support and thinks the spirit stick is effective. Her spare time is filled by sewing and "messing around." Beth's future plans are to attend college and major in elementary education.

Jodi Steele, a junior member of the squad, lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Steele, at 606 Plaza Drive. She has been cheerleading for five years, and is active as secretary of the Junior Class, treasurer of cheerleaders, and in SOS and GAA. "School spirit is a lot better than last year but it can still be improved. I feel that the spirit stick has helped." She also enjoys bowling, shopping, going to movies and eating.

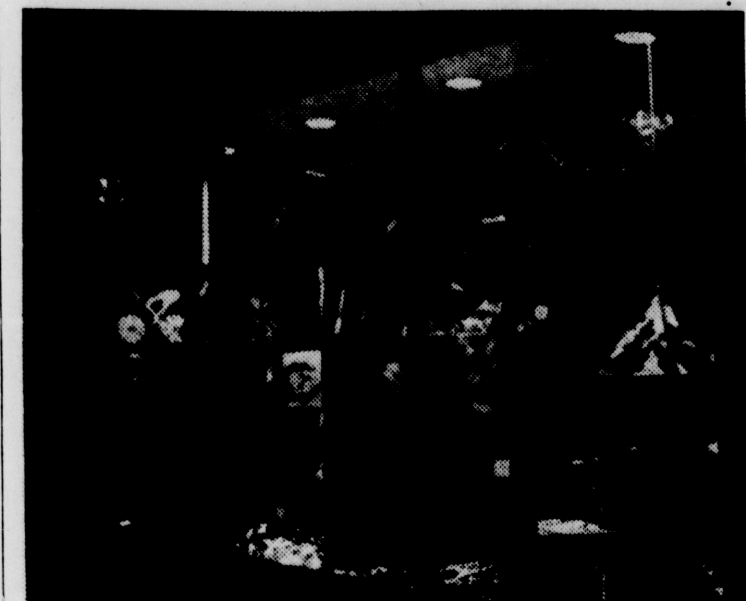

Cheating Results In Little Help

By PAM CRABTREE

At one time in your life, if not already, the age old problem of cheating will come before you. This brings up the question, does cheating help?

In high school, students cheat and think they are getting away with something. Are they really? It may seem easy to copy a friend's math problems, but where are you when you are asked to explain how you got your answer? Testing time always brings out the cheaters.

Before you can realize it, college is ahead of you. All through high school, cheating has been your solution to all problems. Now is the time that you realize cheating is not easy without your friends to loan their answers. Did cheating really help?

SOCIAL REFLECTIONS — Mirroring the varied activities of life today in space exploration, war, drugs and music is the display by the art classes at CHS. Contemplating society through boxes and squares, insides and outsides, students expressed their feelings about our changing world.

By DEBBIE MOORE

CHS display case to the right of the main lobby has been given a new look by art classes. During the past few weeks Art II and III classes have been using their imagination on different sized boxes to show an aspect of today's world.

Their subjects are varied, and include war, drugs, the space program and the music scene. Art II students worked with the outside of the boxes, using paint or pictures for a collage effect. Art III members, a more advanced class, explored the possibilities inside a box, using paint, pictures, suspended objects and lights.

Under the supervision of Judy Rose, art instructor, the classes have arranged their art work in the display case using mylar as a background. The title of the display is "Reflections of Our Society."

Journalism class would like to salute Sandy Mitchell, a new student at CHS. Sandy, a 16-year-old sophomore, resides at Elsie Trailer Court with her mother, Mrs. Grace Mitchell and one brother, Danny.

Before coming to Circleville, Sandy attended Trenton High School in Trenton, Michigan, where she was active in Pep Club. Her reaction to Circleville was, "It is okay and a lot bigger than Trenton."

Sandy is enrolled in the business course of study. Sandy's favorite subject is art. When asked her opinion of CHS she replied, "The kids are very friendly and the school is very nice."

Approximately 30 Senior Home Economics students took the 1970 Betty Crocker Search for the American Homemaker test sponsored by General Mills last Tuesday. This program offers students an opportunity to earn scholarships of $500 to $5,000. The scholarship competition is based on a broad area of subjects related to homemaking.

The senior girl with the highest test score in Circleville High School will be named local Homemaker of Tomorrow. Her paper will then be entered in state-level judging. The highest ranking Homemaker of Tomorrow in Ohio will be awarded a $1,500 college scholarship. The second ranking girl in the state will receive a $500 scholarship.

From the 51 top scholarship winners — one from each state including the District of Columbia — one girl will be chosen All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow. She will be awarded a $5,000 scholarship and the three runners-up will earn scholarships of $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000 respectively.

'Senioritis' Has Variety Of Effects On CHS Students

By VICKI RALSTON and BETH SMITH

Red and Black roving reporters got these comments to the question "How does it feel to be a senior?"

Pat Thomas — "Being a senior is one of the most confusing states of life: too many decisions to make, too many deadlines to meet and too many problems to try to solve."

Meg Ebert — "It scares me."

Liz Moon — "I am sad because I wish I could start all over again."

Bev May — "It is not what I expected it to be."

Vicki Schroeder — "Planning my future depresses me."

John Myers — "It means applying to colleges and having a lot of fun."

CJHS played their first basketball game of the season Tuesday evening. The frosh topped Lancaster Stansbury, 34-30 at Stansbury and the seventh and eighth graders won their first tilt on the tiny Tiger's floor.

Junior High held their Thanksgiving Assembly Nov. 26. Rev. Eugene Flowers of the Good Shepherd United Methodist Church gave the message. A specially selected eighth and ninth grade Thanksgiving chorus, directed by Truman Eberly, provided the musical part of the assembly.

The Young Generation was the featured band at the first CHS dance of the year Nov. 26. The dance was sponsored by the combined seventh, eighth and ninth grade GAA.

Freshmen wrestlers traveled to Brookpark Wednesday for their first meet of the season. The matmen have their first home battle Friday at 4:30 p.m. when the CJHS grapplers tangle with a tough Finland Junior High school squad.

Thomas' Predictions Give Westfall, Teays Valley Edge

By BILL THOMAS

Dreams of a perfect season went out the window last week but a 6-1 record isn't too bad so I'll hold my breath and pray. Teays Valley over West Jefferson. This one rates a flip of the coin. Winner of this game will take a giant step toward the Metro League crown.

Vikings will run into their toughest and tallest opposition this year but have already proven that they can beat the best. As always, dazzling Dale Lambert (who broke his scoring record for the third time this season in last week's 77-65 rout of Westfall) must be stopped, and if the Roughriders use anything less than handcuffs they could be in for a long night.

WCH over Circleville. Home court advantage should propel the Blue Lions over the hustling Tigers. Tiger-cats have lost two tough ones this year and should give WCH a run for their money. Circleville could wrap up their first league win if they stop the shooting combo of Steve Bowers and Steve Phillips, but hometown crowd will keep Blue Lion's emotions running high.

Circleville over Grandview. Scrappy Tiger Defense should throw a monkey wrench into the Bobcat Machine. Steve Mowery, 6'5" Grandview center, could pose a serious threat but hustle plus ability equals a Tiger win.

Buckeyes Have 3 All-Americans

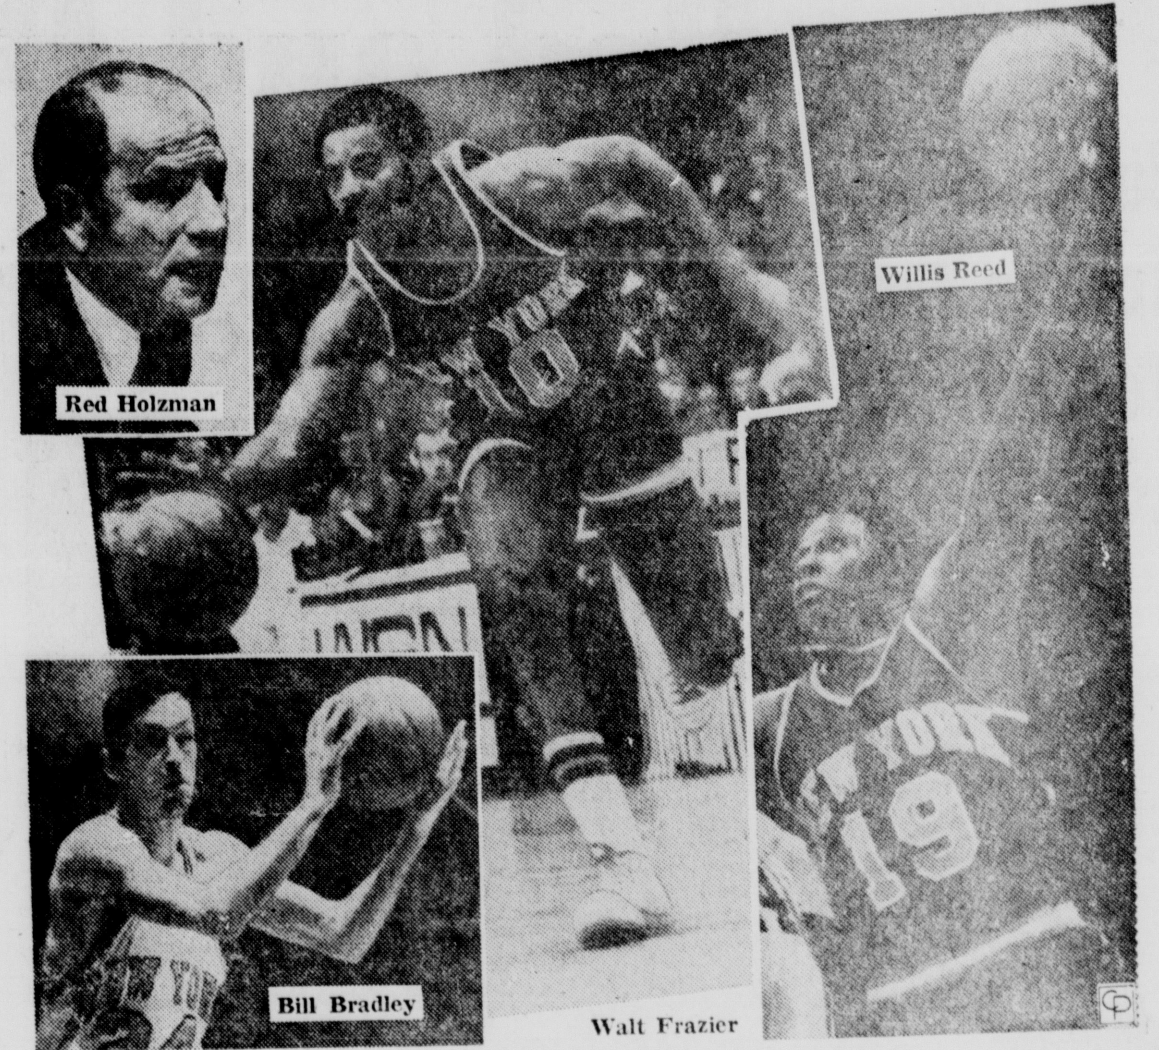

By HERSCHEL NISSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Although their 22-game winning streak was snapped by Michigan in the season's finale, the Ohio State Buckeyes placed three players on the 22-man All-American College Football Team as selected by The Associated Press.

Three teams each had two representatives on the all-star team—defensive tackle Mike Reid and linebacker Dennis Onkotz of Penn State, offensive guard Chip Kell and linebacker Steve Kiner of Tennessee and tight end Jim Mandich and defensive back Tom Curtis of Michigan.

Others on defense are ends Jimmy Gunn, Southern California, and Phil Olsen, Utah State; tackle Mike McCoy, Notre Dame; linebacker Don Parish, Stanford, and back Buddy McClinton, Auburn.

Repeating while Kell, Stillwagon and Tatum are the only juniors. Owens wound up his career with 3,867 yards and led the nation this season in rushing and scoring with 358 carries for 1,523 yards and 23 touchdowns. Phipps set all sorts of Big Ten offense records as he completed 169 of 321 passes for 2,527 yards and 23 touchdowns.

When Ohio State needed short yardage, the Buckeyes turned to Otis, who "picks up short yardage better than anyone I've had," according to Coach Woody Hayes. His short gains added up to 1,027 and 15 touchdowns in only nine games.

Red Holzman

NEW TOAST OF NEW YORK—The New York Knicks, running away with the National Basketball Association race, are the new toast of New York, with the star-studded cast headed by Willis Reed, Walt Frazier and Bill Bradley. The Knicks recently set a new NBA record by winning 18 games in a row. Red Holzman is the Knick coach.

Vikings Picked To Defeat Rams

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Who wants it most, the Rams or the Vikings? That's the real story of Sunday's big pro game between the unbeaten Los Angeles Rams and the streaking Minnesota Vikings, both of whom have clinched their division titles.

One apiece came from top-ranked Texas-offensive tackle Bob McKay—and runner-up Arkansas—center Rodney Brand.

Too bad both clinched before this one. With Purple Gang vs. Fearsome Foursome, both may go to running game to slow down pass rush. Dedicated Vikings should do it on defense. Could be a field goal duel between Fred Cox and Bruce Gossett.

Despite Bills' strong finish. Chiefs should breeze with strong running game and defense. Len Dawson questionable due to strained left knee but Jackie Kemp has jammed knuckles and Tom Sherman may open.

Selected for honorable mention recognition defensively: Ends Debevoise of Ohio State, Tyler of Toledo and Whitfield of Ohio State; tackles—Long of Toledo and Schmidlin of Ohio State; linebackers—Adams of Ohio State, Niegroza of Toledo and Robinson of Ohio University; backs—Provost of Ohio State and Sensibaugh of Ohio State.

The Rams and Vikings will do it all over again in Minnesota, Saturday, Dec. 27 with the winner to be host team to the Eastern Conference championship for the National Football League title, Sun., Jan. 4.

San Francisco 21, Chicago 13 (Saturday) — The 49ers are well rested since 24-24 tie in Dallas Thanksgiving Day but may be hard pressed to keep Gale Sayers in check. Bears gambling with Virgil Carter at quarterback in hopes of helping move air game. John Brodie's passing gives 49ers edge.

Dallas 31, Pittsburgh 14 — Cowboys need this one to clinch and Steelers haven't beaten anybody since opening day. Dallas gets Ralph Neely back for last road game. Dallas weak pass defense won't be fatal here.

Oakland 30, Cincinnati 17 — Despite Bengals' 31-17 surprise win in first game, Raiders smell that big money now and will be ready for Greg Cook and Co.

Denver 21, Miami 14 — Floyd Little likely to rejoin Broncos. Dolphins still floundering without Bob Griese. Two battered clubs nearing the end of the line.

It's a real pleasure to see the crowds that have been following our local basketball teams and is certainly a credit to the community.

Last year's winner of the Circleville Herald's Bob Bowsher Award, Westfall's Tony Lightle, had to choose between basketball at Capital University and football at Akron University. Football won and Tony was a member of Akron's Freshman team this fall.

Something of interest to all basketball fans will be Newt Oliver's book "One Basketball and Glory." Newt Oliver was the coach of Rio Grande College and Bevo Francis during the early fifties and it is a real rags to riches story. It will bring back memories to some and be an inspiration to others. It should be on the local book counters soon or you can get a copy by sending two dollars to Newt Oliver, 1138 Eastgate Road, Springfield, Ohio, 45503. All proceeds from the book will go to Rio Grande College for athletic equipment.

Our thanks go to Chuck Jackson and Dan Hicks, co-captains of the 1969 Teays Valley football squad, for the letter they sent us. We certainly appreciated the nice remarks and it's a pleasure to be associated with young men of this caliber.

As the winter recreation season approaches The Ohio Department of Natural Resources is preparing for all of the campers, hunters, skiers and hikers.

You can obtain free folders on: "Winter Facilities at State Parks," "Camping on Wildlife Areas," and "Fishing and Hunting in Ohio," by writing to Ohio Department of Natural Resources, Publications Room 1500 Dublin Road, Columbus, Ohio 43212.

Our little gem of information — Al Benton is the only man to boast the distinction of pitching to both Babe Ruth and Mickey Mantle. Hurling for the Philadelphia Athletics, Benton pitched to Ruth on April 26, 1934, and on August 9, 1952 as a member of the Boston Red Sox he pitched to Mantle.

Our "fearless" forecast — Circleville to shock Washington Court House . . . Circleville over Grandview . . . Westfall to beat Madison South . . . Westfall over Paint Valley . . . Teays Valley to conquer West Jefferson . . . Teays Valley over Reynoldsburg . . . Logan Elm to beat Adena.

Our upset of the week — Arkansas Razorbacks to root the Texas Longhorns from the top of the heap.

PRO-dictions — Browns over the Packers . . . Raiders over the Bengals.

Until next time, have a nice day — be a good sport.

Ohio U - Purdue Contest Among Basketball Action

By GEORGE STRODE
Associated Press Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Dayton unveils a new arena, Ohio State seeks a second straight road win and Ohio University awaits third-ranked Purdue.

Those are the main attractions on the first busy Saturday Ohio college basketball card of the 1969-70 season.

A sellout crowd of 13,450 will jam the Dayton Arena to see the Flyers, loaded with size and experience take on Bowling Green.

Dayton coach Don Donohue expects big things out of his Flyers who start a unit of 6-foot-8 George Janky, 6-7 Tom Crosswhite, 6-5 Ken May, 6-2 Jim Gottschall and 6-5 Pat Murnen.

"As a major independent," he declared, "We have no conference championship to shoot for, so 20 wins and a tournament bid are our main goals."

Dayton has posted five straight 20-win seasons, best in the nation in that span.

Four of last year's top scorers are back for Bowling Green, also making its season debut. Mostly sophomores and junior college transfers played last winter as the Falcons finished with a 9-15 record.

Ohio State coach Fred Taylor expects no picnic at Butler after his Buckeyes whacked host Wake Forest 96-92 for his 200th coaching victory.

"Even though Butler lost by 16 at Illinois (83-67), it'll be different in Indianapolis," Taylor warned. "The natives over there will be restless."

Butler's starting unit is small. Veteran coach Tony Hinkle uses a combination of 6-foot-5 Dave Bennett, 6-5 Larry Radecki, 6-4 John Seal, 5-8 Steve Norris and 5-10 Billy Shepherd.

Ohio University and Purdue both won their openers. The Bobcats triumphed at Northwestern 90-79 while the Boiler-makers were edging Tulsa 77-74.

The Bobcats' big worry is defending All-America Rick Mount. "This guy's going to score his points no matter what you do," Ohio coach Jim Snyder said. "The main thing you hope to do is keep him within reason."

Pete Maravich Starts Big; LSU Defeats Oregon State

By TED EIER
Associated Press Sports Writer
Pistol Pete is shooting those baskets down again.

Pete Maravich, the 6-foot-5 All-American from Louisiana State, started his senior year in college basketball LSU by throwing in 43 points Thursday night to lead the Bayou Tigers to a 94-72 victory over Oregon State.

Pistol Pete, the No. 1 scorer in the college game as a sophomore and a junior, put on a dazzling performance that delighted his father, Press Maravich, LSU coach.

"I think he did a great job of playmaking," said his dad, "he threw the ball behind his back, between his legs and around his ears for seven assists. He shot well from the floor and the free throw line."

"Pete's like a light bulb," the elder Maravich added. He sure lit up the court with his 43 points, a bit shy of his 4.2 point average last season, on 14 field goals and 15-of-19 from the foul line.

The 43 points boosted Pete's career total to 2,329. He needs only 645 more to shatter Oscar Robertson's all-time record career total of 2,973 during the Big O's days at the U. of Cincinnati.

Across the country from Baton Rouge, in Las Cruces, New Mexico State lived up to its national sixth-place ranking by crushing Wichita State 108-76.

The Aggies, led by 32 points from 6-8 junior Jeff Smith, wiped out a 11-point deficit and won going away from the Shockers.

St. John's of New York, No. 14 and the only other team in the Associated Press pre-season Top Twenty to play, whipped Harvard 73-62 in the Redmen's campus gym in New York.

Manhattan shaded Rhode Island 70-68 and Princeton shipped NYU 77-60 in a double-leader at Madison Square Garden.

Florida State rolled over Oregon 100-84, Texas humbled Alabama 90-63, Temple shaded Lehigh 73-70, Auburn squeezed past Clemson 61-60 and Arizona defeated Weber State 72-68.

In other games, Northwestern Louisiana surprised Texas A&M 73-71, Colorado State U. conquered Montana 100-77, Iowa State overcame Sacramento State 77-61, Minnesota whacked North Dakota 85-71, Nebraska took Augustana, S.D. 77-56, San Francisco downed San Francisco State 71-56 and Dartmouth defeated Vermont 91-73.

New York Swaps Pepitone For Bleafary

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Joe Pepitone might feel some what lost for awhile deep in the heart of Texas, but Curt Bleafary should feel right at home at Yankee Stadium.

New York dumped the controversial Pepitone to the Houston Astros Thursday for Bleafary, a former Yankee bonus baby, in a straight swap of colorful, Brooklyn born first basemen.

The trade was one of four consummated on the fifth day of baseball's winter meetings—a day capped by the selection of a new National League president, longtime San Francisco Giants executive Charles "Chub" Feeney.

Feeney, elected unanimously by the NL club owners, succeeds Warren Giles, retiring after 18 years as the league boss, in a development likely to block any immediate reorganization of the game's administrative structure.

Feeney, 48, accepted the job only after assurances from the owners that his powers will not be diminished. He received a four-year contract, at an estimated $75,000 a year, and will move the league office from Cincinnati to San Francisco. Proposals to place both league offices and that of Commissioner Bowie Kuhn under the same roof are part of a restructuring plan, to be considered Saturday, and also would centralize power in the commissioner's office.

Feeney's first official act was the announcement that Cincinnati will host the 1970 All-Star Game on July 14 in its new stadium, due for completion June 30.

San Diego traded pitcher Joe Nickro to Detroit for pitcher Pat Dobson and infielder Dave Campbell in the day's other inter-league transaction.

Seattle sent pitcher George Brunet to Washington for pitcher Dave Baldwin and the Chicago Cubs swapped pitcher Rich Nye for St. Louis outfielder Charles "Boots" Day.

But the biggest deal so far as personalities were concerned, saw the Yanks part with Pepitone, the temperamental, long-haired slugger who hit 166 home runs in eight turbulent American League seasons. In reacquiring Bleafary, the Yanks receive a player they've coveted since losing on waivers to Baltimore six years ago.

"That's the way it goes," said Pepitone, who hit .242, with a club high 27 homers, last season but fell into disfavor after walking out on the club three times in August.

The disappearing acts, which he blamed on personal problems, cost him a fine and brief suspension.

"This should be good for the Yankees, and good for the Astros, too," he said. "I'm not disappointed. The only thing that hurts is that I'm opening a hair-styling parlor in Brooklyn and I'd like to be able to spend a lot of time there."

"I'm ecstatic," said Bleafary, who won the American League Rookie of the year award in 1965 in Baltimore and was a Yankee killer of the first order until the Orioles traded him to Houston for pitcher Mike Cuellar a year ago Thursday.

Bleafary, at 26 three years younger than Pepitone, batted .253 for Houston last year. He hit 12 homers, but became disenchanted with the cavernous Astrodome.

"We understand he had his troubles," Yanks manager Ralph Houck said, "but we feel he can be a better ballplayer in Yankee Stadium."

"I had him when he was just a baby, back in 1962 when we carried him on our roster as a first year player. He was a great competitor and he still is. I know him as a highly competitive player — a man who wants to play."

The Tigers added Nickro, younger brother of Atlanta ace Phil, to a pitching staff shaken up earlier in the week when Jerry Robertson was obtained from Montreal for Joe Spina. Nickro was 8-18 as a San Diego starter, Dobson 5-10 for the Tigers, mostly in relief. Campbell hit .103 in 32 games for Detroit.

"Dobson will take Nickro's place in our rotation and Campbell will be my second baseman," said Padres' skipper Preston Gomez, who came to the meetings hoping to land pitching and infield help.

"Nickro's an established pitcher and with a better ball-club behind him, he should be better than .500," Gomez added.

Brunet, a left-hander who was 8-12 with California and Seattle last year, moved out to his seventh major league club while Baldwin, a relief specialist, who was 2-4 with Washington, joined the Pilots.

Day, 22, hit .262 for the Cardinals' Tulsa farm club in the American Association. Nye, a 13-game winner in his 1967 rookie year, was 3-5 as a reliever for the Cubs last summer.

Buckeyes Have 3 All-Americans

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Although their 22-game winning streak was snapped by Michigan in the season's finale, the Ohio State Buckeyes placed three players on the 22-man All-American College Football Team as selected by The Associated Press.

Three teams each had two representatives on the all-star team—defensive tackle Mike Reid and linebacker Dennis Onkotz of Penn State, offensive guard Chip Kell and linebacker Steve Kiner of Tennessee and tight end Jim Mandich and defensive back Tom Curtis of Michigan.

Others on defense are ends Jimmy Gunn, Southern California, and Phil Olsen, Utah State; tackle Mike McCoy, Notre Dame; linebacker Don Parish, Stanford, and back Buddy McClintock, Auburn.

Repeating while Kell, Stillwagon and Tatum are the only juniors. Owens wound up his career with 3,867 yards and led the nation this season in rushing and scoring with 358 carries for 1,523 yards and 23 touchdowns. Phipps set all sorts of Big Ten offense records as he completed 169 of 321 passes for 2,527 yards and 23 touchdowns.

When Ohio State needed short yardage, the Buckeyes turned to Otis, who "picks up short yardage better than anyone I've had," according to Coach Woody Hayes. His short gains added up to 1,027 and 15 touchdowns in only nine games.

Otis is a 6-foot, 214-pound senior from Celina; Stillwagon, 6-0 and weighing 216, is a junior from Mt. Vernon and at 6-0 and 204, Tatum is a junior from Passaic, N. J.

One of their Michigan counterparts, Mandich, is an Ohioan. Mandich, at 6-3 and 222, is a senior from Solon.

Named to the second team as a defensive back was Curt Johnson, who plays for Toledo.

Vikings Picked To Defeat Rams

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Who wants it most, the Rams or the Vikings? That's the real story of Sunday's big pro game between the unbeaten Los Angeles Rams and the streaking Minnesota Vikings, both of whom have clinched their division titles.

The Rams and Vikings will do it all over again in Minnesota, Saturday, Dec. 27 with the winner to be host team to the Eastern Conference championship for the National Football League title, Sun. Jan. 4.

With 11 straight and a chance to go all the way, the Rams will be going home before their home fans. The Vikings, who have won 10 in a row since losing the opener, also have something to prove to the Rams who clobbered them 31-13 last year.

It all adds up to quite a ball game and a toughie to pick. There are two Saturday games, one each in the NFL and the American Football League.

San Francisco 21, Chicago 13 (Saturday) — The 49ers are well rested since 24-24 tie in Dallas Thanksgiving Day but may be hard pressed to keep Gale Sayers in check. Bears gambling with Virgil Carter at quarterback in hopes of helping move air game. John Brodie's passing gives 49ers edge.

Minnesota 20, Los Angeles 16 — Too bad both clinched before this one. With Purple Gang vs. Fearsome Foursome, both may go to running game to slow down pass rush. Dedicated Vikings should do it on defense. Could be a field goal duel between Fred Cox and Bruce Gossett.

Dallas 31, Pittsburgh 14 — Cowboys need this one to clinch and Steelers haven't beaten anybody since opening day. Dallas gets Ralph Neely back for last road game. Dallas weak pass defense won't be fatal here.

Baltimore 21, Detroit 20 — Two second place clubs trying to salvage something. Lions had four-game win streak snapped by Vikings and may go with Bill Munson for injured Greg Landry. John Unitas has gimpy knee. Colt Offence Vs. Lion defense in a squeaker.

Cleveland 21, Green Bay 14 — Packers have won six in a row from Browns since 1956 but the streak ends here. Cleveland may be looking past Pack to Dec. 28 date in Dallas. Look for Leroy Kelly to have a big day.

New Orleans 19, Atlanta 17 — Saints with a hot hand, winning three in a row and four of their last five. Bill Kilmer and Tom Dempsey too much offense for Falcons with Tommy Nobis lost for season.

Washington 31, Philadelphia 28 — Sonny Jurgensen pitching for the Skins and Tom Woodeshick ripping up the line for the Eagles. Skins still bitter about interference call that led to 28-28 tie in first game. Eagles have been coming strong and it should be a wild one.

St. Louis 27, New York 21 — Erratic Cards run hot and cold but dismembered Giants 42-17 in first game when St. Louis runners ran wild. Giants' only shot to end seven-game losing streak is for Fran Tarkenton to feast on battered Card secondary.

New York 23, Houston 20 (Saturday) — After Oakland and Kansas City, Jets figure to bounce back with division clincher although Oilers need a win to nail down second playoff spot. Pete Beathard questionable so Jets' leaky pass umbrella should be good enough.

Atlanta's soaring Hawks blasted the Seattle SuperSonics with a 23-8 spurt in the final seven minutes for a 119-111 National Basketball Association victory Thursday night.

The victory built the Hawks' Western Division lead over idle Chicago to 3½ games.

Dayton coach Don Donohue expects big things out of his Flyers who start a unit of 6-foot-8 George Janky, 6-7 Tom Crosswhite, 6-5 Ken May, 6-2 Jim Gottschall and 6-5 Pat Murnen.

"As a major independent," he declared, "We have no conference championship to shoot for, so 20 wins and a tournament bid are our main goals."

Dayton has posted five straight 20-win seasons, best in the nation in that span.

Four of last year's top scorers are back for Bowling Green, also making its season debut. Mostly sophomores and junior college transfers played last winter as the Falcons finished with a 9-15 record.

Ohio State coach Fred Taylor expects no picnic at Butler after his Buckeyes whacked host Wake Forest 96-92 for his 200th coaching victory.

"Even though Butler lost by 16 at Illinois (83-67), it'll be better than 500," Gomez added.

Brunet, a left-hander who was 8-12 with California and Seattle last year, moved out to his seventh major league club while Baldwin, a relief specialist, who was 2-4 with Washington, joined the Pilots.

Day, 22, hit .262 for the Cardinals' Tulsa farm club in the American Association. Nye, a 13-game winner in his 1967 rookie year, was 3-5 as a reliever for the Cubs last summer.

The election of Feeney, the Giants' general manager, as NL president, virtually assured the two leagues of retaining their separate identities in the immediate future.

"I'm firmly against inter-league play. The big thing in our game is the World Series, and the natural rivalries of the teams in it. I think that would be impaired seriously by inter-league play," he said.

Feeney, a Giants' stockholder, said he would sell his shares immediately.

"The Giants have always been the love of my life," he said.

Feeney, 48, accepted the job only after assurances from the owners that his powers will not be diminished. He received a four-year contract, at an estimated $75,000 a year, and will move the league office from Cincinnati to San Francisco.

Proposals to place both league offices and that of Commissioner Bowie Kuhn under the same roof are part of a restructuring plan, to be considered Saturday, and also would centralize power in the commissioner's office.

Feeney's first official act was the announcement that Cincinnati will host the 1970 All-Star Game on July 14 in its new stadium, due for completion June 30.

San Diego traded pitcher Joe Nickro to Detroit for pitcher Pat Dobson and infielder Dave Campbell in the day's other inter-league transaction.

The Tigers added Nickro, younger brother of Atlanta ace Phil, to a pitching staff shaken up earlier in the week when Jerry Robertson was obtained from Montreal for Joe Sparrma. Nickro was 8-18 as a San Diego starter, Dobson 5-10 for the Tigers, mostly in relief. Campbell hit .103 in 32 games for Detroit.

Dobson will take Nickro's place in our rotation and Campbell will be my second baseman," said Padres' skipper Preston Gomez, who came to the meetings hoping to land pitching and infield help.

"Nickro's an established pitcher and with a better ball club behind him, he should be different in Indianapolis," Taylor warned. "The natives over there will be restless."

Butler's starting unit is small. Veteran coach Tony Hinkle uses a combination of 6-foot-5 Dave Bennett, 6-5, Larry Radecki, 6-4 John Seal, 5-8 Steve Norris and 5-10 Billy Shepherd.

Ohio University and Purdue both won their openers. The Bobcats triumphed at Northwestern 90-79 while the Boiler-makers were edging Tulsa 77-74.

The Bobcats' big worry is defending All-American Rick Mount. "This guy's going to score his points no matter what you do," Ohio coach Jim Snyder said. "The main thing you hope to do is keep him within reason."

Nine league games are included on the heavy schedule Saturday.

In the Ohio Conference, Baldwin-Wallace is at Kenyon, Capital at Hiram, Denison at Otterbein, Marietta at Mt. Union, Oberlin at Heidelberg and Wittenberg at Wooster.

In the Presidents Conference, Thiel visits Western Reserve and John Carroll entertains Washington & Jefferson. The lone Mid-Ohio Conference game sends Wilmington to Malone.

Elsewhere, Athletics in Action are at Kent State, Ball State at Miami, Indiana State at Cincinnati, Xavier at St. Joseph's Toledo at Michigan State and Akron at Hofstra.

Our "fearless" forecast — Circleville to shock Washington Court House . . . Circleville over Grandview . . . Westfall to beat Madison South . . . Westfall over Paint Valley . . . Teays Valley to conquer West Jefferson . . . Teays Valley over Reynoldsburg . . . Logan Elm to beat Adena.

Our upset of the week — Arkansas Razorbacks to root the Texas Longhorns from the top of the heap.

Our little gem of information — Al Benton is the only man to boast the distinction of pitching to both Babe Ruth and Mickey Mantle. Hurling for the Philadelphia Athletics, Benton pitched to Ruth on April 26, 1934, and on August 9, 1952 as a member of the Boston Red Sox he pitched to Mantle.

Our "fearless" forecast — Circleville to shock Washington Court House . . . Circleville over Grandview . . . Westfall to beat Madison South . . . Westfall over Paint Valley . . . Teays Valley to conquer West Jefferson . . . Teays Valley over Reynoldsburg . . . Logan Elm to beat Adena.

Our upset of the week — Arkansas Razorbacks to root the Texas Longhorns from the top of the heap.

PRO-dictions — Browns over the Packers . . . Raiders over the Bengals.

Until next time, have a nice day — be a good sport.

Our thanks go to Chuck Jackson and Dan Hicks, co-captains of the 1969 Teays Valley football squad, for the letter they sent us. We certainly appreciated the nice remarks and it's a pleasure to be associated with young men of this caliber.

As the winter recreation season approaches The Ohio Department of Natural Resources is preparing for all of the campers, hunters, skiers and hikers.

Willie's Dillies

It's a real pleasure to see the crowds that have been following our local basketball teams and is certainly a credit to the community.

Last year's winner of the Circleville Herald's Bob Bowsher Award, Westfall's Tony Lightle, had to choose between basketball at Capital University and football at Akron University. Football won and Tony was a member of Akron's Freshman team this fall.

Something of interest to all basketball fans will be Newt Oliver's book "One Basketball and Glory." Newt Oliver was the coach of Rio Grande College and Bevo Francis during the early fifties and it is a real rags to riches story. It will bring back memories to some and be an inspiration to others. It should be on the local book counters soon or you can get a copy by sending two dollars to Newt Oliver, 1138 Eastgate Road, Springfield, Ohio, 45503. All proceeds from the book will go to Rio Grande College for athletic equipment.

Our thanks go to Chuck Jackson and Dan Hicks, co-captains of the 1969 Teays Valley football squad, for the letter they sent us. We certainly appreciated the nice remarks and it's a pleasure to be associated with young men of this caliber.

Ohio U - Purdue Contest Among Basketball Action

By GEORGE STRODE
Associated Press Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Dayton unveils a new arena, Ohio State seeks a second straight road win and Ohio University awaits third-ranked Purdue.

Those are the main attractions on the first busy Saturday Ohio college basketball card of the 1969-70 season.

A sellout crowd of 13,450 will jam the Dayton Arena to see the Flyers, loaded with size and experience take on Bowling Green.

Rail Strike Threat Ends

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rail industry and union negotiators reached a wage settlement today for 48,000 shopcraft workers and Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz said "we will not be having any strike on the railroads."

The agreement was reached after 20 hours of nonstop bargaining.

Although it must be ratified by the members of four unions, chief union negotiator William W. Winpisinger agreed the strike threat was ended.

"It won't be necessary to inconvenience the public, the shipper," Winpisinger said.

Details of the agreement were withheld pending union ratification votes, except for the fact the settlement will cover 1970 as well as retroactive 1969 pay hikes.

U.S. Weapons Not Reliable, Committee Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee says the Pentagon makes modern weapons so sophisticated and elaborate that they aren't reliable on the battlefield.

"A continuously high percentage of inoperable weapons has been accepted as routine," the committee said in a report accompanying the defense appropriation bill approved Wednesday.

The committee said the practice of "gold-plating" weapons with such elaborate systems as night vision and all-weather operating have made many of them dependent on highly technical repair personnel and facilities.

Rail Strike Threat Ends

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rail industry and union negotiators reached a wage settlement today for 48,000 shopcraft workers and Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz said "we will not be having any strike on the railroads."

The agreement was reached after 20 hours of nonstop bargaining. Although it must be ratified by the members of four unions, chief union negotiator William W. Winpisinger agreed the strike threat was ended. "It won't be necessary to inconvenience the public, the shippers," Winpisinger said. Details of the agreement were withheld pending union ratification votes, except for the fact the settlement will cover 1970 as well as retroactive 1969 pay hikes.

U.S. Weapons Not Reliable, Committee Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee says the Pentagon makes modern weapons so sophisticated and elaborate that they aren't reliable on the battlefield. "A continuously high percentage of inoperable weapons has been accepted as routine," the committee said in a report accompanying the defense appropriation bill approved Wednesday.

The committee said the practice of "gold-plating" weapons with such elaborate systems as night vision and all-weather operating have made many of them dependent on highly technical repair personnel and facilities. It suggested the Pentagon establish a department wide system for achieving reliable weapon performance.

EVERKLEEN GAS OVEN

by HARDWICK

TEST PANELS DEMONSTRATE EFFECTIVENESS OF EVERKLEEN*

SAY GOODBYE TO MESSY OVEN CLEANING!

New Everkleen porcelain enamel cleans itself automatically as you cook. Bakes itself clean! Everkleen both resists grease and food spatter and continually cleans itself whenever you cook. There is never any soil-build-up because grease and food spatters do not cling to the oven walls.

Boost In Social Security Benefits Tacked To Tax Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democrats, moving rapidly to steel the march on Republicans, have prepared a rider to the tax reform bill raising Social Security benefits by 15 percent effective Jan. 1.

The Democrats took action Thursday to get the rider into position for adoption today. This came as GOP senators were being planning a similar move.

EMERGENCIES

Mrs. Darlene Darst, 19, Route 2, Amanda, was treated and admitted for a splinter imbedding in her left thigh while working.

Robert Febes, 16 months, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Febes, 328 S. Pickaway St., fell at home, fracturing his right wrist.

Stanley Fausnaugh, 24, of 385 Walnut St., stepped on a nail at work causing a puncture wound.

Mrs. Elsie Chester, 79, of 111 Collins Court, fractured her right leg when she fell on the sidewalk. She was transferred to University Hospital, Columbus.

Treated in the emergency room on Thursday were 14 persons with 10 for medical purposes and four non-vehicle accidents.

The vote on the rider was set for after consideration of another amendment to knock out of the tax reform bill the provision inserted in the Senate Finance Committee ending the tax exemption privilege for private, grant-making foundations after 40 years.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., chairman of Finance, said there was no question the Senate would approve the Social Security rider.

Long and Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., chief sponsors of the amendment said they were convinced this procedure was the best way to assure passage of the Social Security boost before the 1969 session ends.

The rider is identical to the Social Security bill approved Wednesday by the House Ways and Means Committee.

Sponsors of that measure hope to get it passed in the House by next Thursday. But they were understood to have agreed it could be handled as an amendment to the tax bill rather than as separate legislation.

The amendment to delete the 40-year limit on the life of foundations was sponsored by Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., who said the provision amounted to "a death sentence for all existing private foundations by 2010."

"The 40-year rule makes no distinction between foundations which have made vital contributions to the nation and to our society and those which serve individuals as tax shelters only," he declared.

But Gore, one of the authors of the limitation, answered that "this is no death sentence."

"It is time we put some reasonable limit on this tax exemption," he said.

Long agreed and said that future congresses could extend the life of foundations doing good.

The Senate continued to add to the revenue losses of the massive tax bill Thursday.

It adopted 46-41 an amendment of Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif., to restore full deduction of medical expenses of persons 65 and over and of such expenses paid by children for dependent parents 65 and over.

Since 1965, old persons have had the same deductions in this area as all others.

Long said the amendment would cost $225 million a year and would benefit chiefly old persons in high income brackets.

The Senate has voted previously for similar amendments, but they have been rejected by the House in conference.

Final Visit Of Bloodmobile Scheduled

The Bloodmobile will make its final visit of 1969 to Circleville 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Dec. 11 at Community United Methodist Church.

Response to the special visit of the Bloodmobile last month was overwhelming and resulted in Pickaway County now standing at 110 per cent of its quota for 1969. However, the upcoming holiday season always places a heavy demand for blood upon the regional center due to the large number of traffic injuries anticipated at this time. Accordingly, the local quota for the Dec. 11 visit has been set at 125 pints.

Several persons were turned away at the last visit because there were not enough facilities to handle them. Mrs. Etha Mae Wolford, local Red Cross executive secretary, today stressed the importance of calling her office, 47-5736, for an appointment time in advance of the visit. "If everyone would do this," she said, "we wouldn't have this problem of being so busy at one time that we can't handle everyone and of having a practically empty room at other times." She also explained that potential donors are given their choice of time when they call, whenever possible. They are not arbitrarily assigned a time.

"When an individual needs blood, the only source for it is a blood donor. Blood cannot be produced in the laboratory. This Christmas give the gift of life itself. It's a warm feeling to know that an hour of our time will help maintain life for someone in need," suggests Jack Mader, blood program chairman.

$24,500 BRIBES — Former Sen. Daniel B. Brewster (above), Maryland Democrat, is under a 10-count federal indictment on charges of receiving $24,500 in bribes to influence his "action, vote and decision on postage rate legislation." He was a member of the Post Office and Civil Service Committee. Also under indictment are the Chicago-based mail order house Spiegel, Inc., and its Washington lobbyist, Cyrus T. Anderson.

County Sales Tax Collections Show Increase

Ohio sales tax collections in Pickaway County for the month of November totaled $66,534.13, a 5.97 per cent increase over the same period of 1968 when collections amounted to $62,781.87.

For the first five months of fiscal 1969-70 (July through November), Pickaway County sales tax collections showed an increase over the comparable five months of last year from $203,199.58 to $218,714.99.

November, 1969 collections from Ohio's 88 counties amounted to $39,728,938.71 according to the report of State Treasurer John D. Herbert.

Grand Jury Hears Of 7 Slayings

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A young woman, whose attorney pledges she will tell who killed Sharon Tate and six others, testifies before a grand jury today. Prosecutors are seeking to indict the bearded leader of her hippie-style clan for conspiracy to commit murder.

Attorney Richard Caballero said Thursday night that Susan Denise Atkins, 21, will waive rights against self-incrimination and "tell the grand jury exactly what happened" in a gamble that her voluntary testimony might save her from the gas chamber.

Miss Atkins, charged with murder in a separate case, accompanied members of the clan as they killed Miss Tate, actress-wife of Polish film director Roman Polanski, and the others last summer, Caballero said. But he said she was temporarily insane, under the clan leader's "hypnotic spell" at the time and "had nothing to do with the murders."

Miss Atkins' jail cell conversations led to arrests in the Tate case. But The Los Angeles Times, to which Caballero made his statements, said prosecutors were expected to seek her indictment anyway.

Also among the 18 scheduled witnesses was producer Terry Melcher, 27-year-old son of singer Doris Day. Melcher has declined comment.

Miss Atkins' attorneys said Melcher was visited by Charles M. Manson, 35, known as the leader of a quasi-religious clan of hippie types who knew Manson as "G-d" and "Satan."

Manson was unsuccessful in seeking Melcher's help to record some songs when Melcher lived in the Tate home in fashionable Bel Air before Miss Tate and her husband moved in, the attorneys said.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Aaron Stovitz said Thursday he would ask the grand jury to indict

Manson on a charge of conspiracy to commit murder, and would seek murder and conspiracy indictments against at least five other persons.

It was the first word that Manson, held for trial in Independence, Calif., on charges of possessing stolen property and driving a stolen vehicle, would be a target for prosecution in the slayings.

Shot or stabbed with Miss Tate, 26, at her rented $200,000 home last Aug. 9 were Hollywood hair stylist Jay Sebring, 35, coffee heiress Abigail Folger, 26, Polish playboy Voltyek Frokowsky, 37, and Steven Parmenter, 18, a friend of the caretaker.

A wealthy market executive, Leno LaBianca, 44, and his wife Rosemary, 38, were stabbed to death at their Hollywood home the next day.

Miss Atkins' lawyers said she told them that members of Manson's group, who dressed in black for the occasion, committed the Tate slayings, then killed the LaBiancas to prove their nerve. They reported she said Manson was not with them.

County Sales Tax Collections Show Increase

Ohio sales tax collections in Pickaway County for the month of November totaled $66,534.13, a 5.97 per cent increase over the same period of 1968 when collections amounted to $62,781.87.

For the first five months of fiscal 1969-70 (July through November), Pickaway County sales tax collections showed an increase over the comparable five months of last year from $203,199.58 to $218,714.99.

November, 1969 collections from Ohio's 88 counties amounted to $39,728,938.71 according to the report of State Treasurer John D. Herbert.

Grand Jury Hears Of 7 Slayings

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A young woman, whose attorney pledges she will tell who killed Sharon Tate and six others, testifies before a grand jury today. Prosecutors are seeking to indict the bearded leader of her hippie-style clan for conspiracy to commit murder.

Incorporation Filed For Ford Agency

Preparations are underway to establish a new Ford automobile agency in Circleville by Rod Bell of the Rod Bell Motor Sales Co., London.

Articles of incorporation were filed in Columbus for this area with Secretary of State Ted W. Brown listing Rodney A. Bell, John W. Tanner and Analee Hays, incorporators. Agent for filing was James Houseman, in the process of moving to Circleville. Legal filing was handled through John W. Tanner, London.

Bell informed the Herald today that he plans to secure the former Hannan building, 586 N. Court St. to establish a Ford dealership for Circleville and Pickaway County.

At the present time he is unable to say when he can occupy the building as it will first be offered for public sale. In the meantime, Bell is quoted as saying he "will open a Ford dealership in Circleville by Jan. 1 — somewhere."

Attorney Richard Caballero said Thursday night that Susan Denise Atkins, 21, will waive rights against self-incrimination and "tell the grand jury exactly what happened" in a gamble that her voluntary testimony might save her from the gas chamber.

Miss Atkins, charged with murder in a separate case, accompanied members of the clan as they killed Miss Tate, actress-wife of Polish film director Roman Polanski, and the others last summer, Caballero said. But he said she was temporarily insane, under the clan leader's "hypnotic spell" at the time and "had nothing to do with the murders."

Miss Atkins' jail cell conversations led to arrests in the Tate case. But the Los Angeles Times, to which Caballero made his statements, said prosecutors were expected to seek her indictment anyway.

Also among the 18 scheduled witnesses was producer Terry Melcher, 27-year-old son of singer-actress Doris Day. Melcher has declined comment.

Miss Atkins' attorneys said Melcher was visited by Charles M. Manson, 35, known as the leader of a quasi-religious clan of hippie types who knew Manson as "G-d" and "Satan."

Manson was unsuccessful in seeking Melcher's help to record some songs when Melcher lived in the Tate home in fashionable Bel Air before Miss Tate and her husband moved in, the attorneys said.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Aaron Stovitz said Thursday he would ask the grand jury to indict

Manson on a charge of conspiracy to commit murder, and would seek murder and conspiracy indictments against at least five other persons.

It was the first word that Manson, held for trial in Independence, Calif., on charges of possessing stolen property and driving a stolen vehicle, would be a target for prosecution in the slayings.

Shot or stabbed with Miss Tate, 26, at her rented $200,000 home last Aug. 9 were Hollywood hair stylist Jav Sebring, 35, coffee heiress Abigail Folger, 26, Polish playboy Voltyek Frokowsky, 37, and Steven Parmenter, 18, a friend of the caretaker.

A wealthy market executive, Leno LaBianca, 44, and his wife Rosemary, 38, were stabbed to death at their Hollywood home the next day.

Miss Atkins' lawyers said she told them that members of Manson's group, who dressed in black for the occasion, committed the Tate slayings, then killed the LaBiancas to prove their nerve. They reported she said Manson was not with them.
